CHRONIC ECZEMA
CURED BY CUTICURA

I was troubled several years with chronic Eczema, on my head and face. I took medical treatment from two doctors and several lotions, but received little relief. At times, the dreadful itching became almost intolerable. When I was heated, the Eczema became painful, and almost distracted me. I tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. The Eczema rapidly disappeared, and I am well, with no trace of any cutaneous disease. J. EMMETT REEVES, Feb. 22, 1898. Box 125, Thorntown, Ind.

FEARS AN ASSASSIN.

Rumor That Aguinaldo Had Fled to an Inacessible Region.

A Bitter Opponent of the Insurgent Leader to Select Cabinet.

Aguinaldo Refuses to Release the Spanish Prisoners.

An American Named Scott Saved the Lives of Spaniards--Visayans Refuse to Join Revolution.

MANILA, Dec. 27.—The situation, so far as the insurgents are concerned here, is serious. The selection of a new cabinet has been entrusted to a Filipino named Madi, a rampant irreconcilable of unknown antecedents and a bitter opponent of Aguinaldo, especially on the question of Spanish prisoners. It is reported that Aguinaldo refused to release the prisoners, although the cabinet decided to accede to the request of General Otis for their release.

It is rumored that Aguinaldo has fled to an inaccessible region back of Cavite, with a few followers, fearing assassination. This report, however, is denied, but his sudden change of base is not explained.

EXPEDITION SAILS.

An expedition commanded by General Miller has left here for Iloilo, capital of the island of Panays. The troops consisted of the Eighteenth infantry, the Iowa battalion, the Sixth artillery and a detachment of the signal corps. The troops were shipped on board the transports Arizona, Newport and Pennsylvania. The steamers were convoyed by the United States cruiser Baltimore and by the Calloa.

SPANIARDS SEEK REFUGE.

A steamer which has arrived here from Samar reports that the Tagals insurgents have been in possession of Kalbaon since December 11th. Business there is said to be entirely suspended, and all the Spaniards of the vicinity have sought refuge in the house of a man named Scott, an American. The insurgents threatened to attack the refugees but refrained from doing so because it was reported that American soldiers were on their way there.

One Spaniard, however, was shot and another was pluckily rescued by Scott, who rode fifteen miles and demanded the man's release in the face of an armed mob of Tagals, who had been looting the Visayan stores and houses, the leaders of the insurgents being unable to control them.

All the efforts made to induce the Visayans to join the revolution have been fruitless.

SNUGLY LOCKED

In the President's Own Safe is the Paris Treaty.

Secretary Hay Refuses to Make the Document Public- Says That Alone is President's Privilege.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Secretary Hay today received visits from some of the members and officers of the Paris peace commission. John Bassett Moore, upon whom, as secretary, developed some of the most delicate and weighty work required of the commission, is now engaged settling up with the department the records of the proceedings and winding up its existence. He will return to New York and resume his duties as professor of international law at Columbia university.

Notwithstanding the more or less accurate reports that have been published as to the treaty itself, Secretary Hay remains steadfast in his purpose not to make the document public until the United States senate shall have authorized it.

It is true that no law governs him in such cases, the executive branch being quite as free as the legislative to make public or to maintain as confidential treaties and protocols. But this is a privilege little availed of in late years and at present there are motives of policy that operate to prevent a departure from the usual practice.

CHANGE OF BASE.

General Keifer Will Have Headquarters in Havana.

Sets Sail for the Cuban City With His Entire Force, Midst Scenes Great Enthusiasm.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 27.—Maj. Gen. J. Warren Keifer and the headquarters officers of the First division, Seventh army corps, departed today on the United States transport Panama for Havana, where General Keifer will establish headquarters.

The trip down the river and past the wharves of this port was a splendid one. The day was beautiful and hundreds of people lined the docks to get a last look at General Keifer, who has proven himself a popular commander since he has been located here. There was a large crowd at the dock to see the general go aboard the Panama, and as he stepped from his carriage there was a cheer.

He went at once on board the ship and the lines were soon cast off.

The Ninth Illinois band was on the dock. The Panama was moored alongside the transport Chester, the latter vessel being filled with enthusiastic citizens.

Both ladies and gentlemen with members of the Seventh corps helped to honor General Kiefer with an appropriate farewell.

MORRILL WILL DIE.

Death a Matter of Only a Few Hours.

Age, Heart Trouble and La Grippe Combine in the Attack Upon the Old Senator.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Senator Morrill, of Vermont, is serious ill with an attack of grip, complicated with lung and heart trouble, and his death, it is said this afternoon, is but a matter of a short time. The senator is eighty-eight years of age, and owing to the weakness consequent on his great age, cannot shake off the attack of grip. The grip is complicated with a touch of pneumonia and laterly his heart has become affected, so that Dr. Van-Renssalear, his physician, this afternoon held out no hope of his recovery. The senator has been for years the patriarch of the senate and has held a warm place in the affections of his associates.

He likewise has enjoyed the fullest confidence of his constituents, who, notwithstanding his years, re-elected him in 1896 for a fifth consecutive term, which will not expire until March 3, 1903.

It has been his annual custom for several years past to make one formal address on some topic of live interest to the senate and this has been listened to with attention by his colleagues, who have regarded these speeches as remarkable in view of the age of their author.

The last address was delivered a week or more before the Christmas holiday adjournment, the subject being the need of a building for the use of the United States supreme court and other courts. Its deliverance showed few signs of lessened vitality and at its conclusion the honor was done the senator of an unanimous passage of the resolution on which he spoke.

Senator Morrill was born in Stratford, Vt., April 14, 1810. In early life he was a merchant and later an agriculturist. He was elected to the house of representatives in the thirty-fourth congress and for four succeeding terms. Then he was transferred to the senate as a union republican, taking his seat March, 4, 1867. Since that time his service has been continuous and he has the record of the longest unbroken term of service in the history of the senate.

He has taken an important part in the legislation of the last thirty years, and especially on commermercial and financial questions, his position as chairman of the finance committee giving him a leading part in all measures relating to the tariff, banking or the currency.

FLAGS ARE WAVING.

American Flag is Now Floating Alongside the Spanish.

An Order by the Captain General Permits Display.

Government Offices Are the Only Buildings Excepted.

Havana is Bright With Color and Fire Crackers Are Exploding- Flags Were Secretly Made.

HAVANA, Dec. 27.—The citizens of Havana read in their morning papers an order from Captain General Castellanos permitting the display of Cuban and American flags inside the lines of Spanish jurisdiction, and early this morning the stars and stripes and the lone star of Cuba floated over many buildings in the heart of the city and in streets where the Spanish soldiers still keep guard. The only buildings excepted in the order are the government offices. Havana, therefore, is now bright with color and firecrackers are being exploded in the streets and on the plazas.

Fear of the Spaniards disappeared with the appearance of these orders, for out came thousands of flags secretly made by the women of the households or clandestinely purchased from adventurous peddlers.

Robert A. Scott, formerly city treasurer of Jacksonville, Fla., succeeded in getting a small cargo of flags into Havana some weeks ago, and flags originally costing about four cents have been selling for about a dollar each.

The order of Captain General Castellanos was issued after a conference with General Ludlow, and it will be followed tonight by an order closing the cafes at 10 p. m.

General Ludlow rode around the city late last night watching the temper of the people in the streets.

Fourteen persons were wounded by people who fired different kinds of weapons in the streets.

FOR JACK TARS.

Homes Will be Built Near Several Navy Yards.

Commodore Phillip is at the Head of the Committee Which Has Charge of the Work.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Commodore J. W. Philip is at the head of a sub-committee of the international committe of the Young Men's Christian association, which is planning to build a home for Jack Tars, near the Brooklyn navy yard, to cost $100,000.

But the home in Brooklyn will not be the only one. There will be others, costing almost as much in Boston, Newport, Norfolk, San Francisco and perhaps in Manila and in Havana.

These buildings will be for enlisted seamen and later there will be similar buildings in the large cities for enlisted soldiers.

The Brooklyn building will look something like a hotel and will be modeled internally like similar buildings in Portsmouth and Davenport, England, under the charge of Miss Weston. The cabins, or rooms, will resemble state rooms on ships, but will be separated with wire screens, so that each lodger will be by himself. They will be kept scrupulously clean and the nightly charge for use of them will be from 10 to 20 cents.

On this basis it is expected to make the branch self-supporting. There will also be a bar, but no intoxicating drinks will be sold. There will be a library and reading room and small rooms for Bible and educational classes and a gymnasium.

TOD SLOAN AT A BALL.

Jockey Causes a Furore at a Society Function at Logansport.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Dec. 27.—Logansport's aristocratic charity organization, the Free Kindergarten association, gave its annual charity ball last night at the Masonic Temple. The management has raised large sums of money every year by by this social function, but the event tonight was unusually well patronized owing to the presence of Tod Sloan, the jockey. He and his traveling companions, Eddie Bald and J. F. Dwyer, had organized a party of thirty among the Kokomo young people and came to Logansport in Sloan's special train.

Sloan was the center of attraction. The little jockey, in dress suit and diamonds, was the envy of the other young men at the ball. While Sloan is a past master in riding, he is equally proficient in dancing, and he piloted his partners in the waltz as skillfully as he ever led the bunch in the home stretch. He gave $200 to the Kindergarten association's fund. Sloan and his party will go to St. Louis.

AGAINST EXPANSION.

Pingree Secures a Speaker to Address Anti-Imperialists of Detroit.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 27.—In reply to a telegraphic request of Governor Pingree, of Michigan, for a speaker for an anti-imperialist meeting in Detroit tomorrow night, the Anti-Imperialist league has sent the Rev. Samuel E. Fuller, of Boston, Governor Pingree bearing the expense.

Secretary Winslow, of the league, will send to every member of the house and senate a letter urging them to prevent the ratification of the treaty as it stands, making the point that one-third of the senate can accomplish now what hereafter will require a majority of each branch for the approval of the president.

A BANK RAIDED.

A Big Haul Made by Thieves at Lima, Ohio.

Time and Combination Locks Yield to Expert Manipulation, and So Do Many Thousand Dollars.

LIMA, Ohio, Dec. 27.—The American National bank was robbed Sunday night of over $15,000. The stone vault was entered without the use of tools or destroying the time lock.

The bank is at Main and High streets, the most prominent corner in the city. When the janitor went to the bank yesterday he discovered the outside door of the vault open. The officers were notified and an investigation was made which disclosed that the other doors were locked, but that the vault had been looted of all its paper money and gold. There were two doors to the vault, the outer one being operated by the time lock. The inner door was locked with a combination lock. When this was opened by the officers a large sack containing $1,000 in silver, done up in packages, was found on a chair, where it had been left. Not a dollar of silver had been taken, although several sacks containing hundreds of dollars more were found on top of the safe.

Saturday night about $16,000 was deposited in the vault. This was stolen, as well as about $2,000 which had been thrown on top of the safe after it had been locked, the money having come in late.

The stockholders of the bank are among the most conservative men in the city, and the bank will not feel the loss. The door of the bank was found locked yesterday. Two electric lights had been left burning Sunday night, but the one in front of the vault was turned off.

Joseph Goldsmith, vice president of the bank, was the last person connected wish the institution in the banking room. He went to the bank to write some letters, and after he had concluded locked the outer door leading to the bank. He says the electric light in front of the door was burning when he left.

There is nothing for the detectives to work on. The manner in which the robbery was done demonstrates, they say, that it was the work of experts. There was not a scratch left on the vault and nothing was molested except the money that could be easily carried away. On the top of the safe inside the vault was a large number of drafts signed in blank. They were not taken.

The vault was made for the Lima National bank before that institution failed about seven years ago. For a number of years the room stood vacant, but a few years ago Goldsmith & Kalb started a private bank, which was merged into the American National June 1 last.

FROM THE ORIENT.

Cousin of the Czar Among the Arrivals at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—Among the passengers on the steamer China which arrived from the orient last night, were Grand Duke Cyril, of Russia, and his aides, Lieutenants Causean and Couse. The grand duke, who is a cousin of the czar, is on his way to St. Petersburg, having nearly completed a tour of the world. Other passengers on the China were Captain Biddle, commander of marines of the Olympia, and J. Kuhlvrin, chief gunner of the Olympia, who are on their way to Washington for orders; Mr. Kinney, chairman of the chamber of commerce of Honolulu, en route to Washington; Professor Bell and daughters, who have been travelling in Japan; Mrs. L. L. Dellaplaine and daughter, of Wheeling, W. Va., and seventeen discharged soldiers.

It was expected that Lord Beresford and Sanford B. Dole would be among the passengers but both were detained and will probably arrive on the next vessels from Honolulu.

PRISONERS ESCAPE.

Six Inmates of the Michigan House of Correction Scaled Prison Walls.

IONIA, Mich., Dec. 27.—Six prisoners escaped from the state house of correction last night. They were: Frank Edison, five years, robbery; Frank Fisher, one year, house breaking; Lewis Ferguson, four years, burglary; William Smith, three years, burglary; James Miller, four years, burglary; John Hubbard, larceny.

They were all convalescents, confined in the hospital. They cut their way through a partition wall to the knitting shop adjoining and scaled the wall. Owing to a windy night and drifting snow they left no trace.

"BAB" IS DEAD.

Well Known Newspaper Writer Dies in New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Mrs. Isabel Mallon, best known by her nomes de plume of "Bab" and "Ruth Ashmore," died at her home in this city today.

The Bachelors club is arranging for a possum pie feast on New Year's eve. Of course all ladies will be barred from participation, but they will probably even matters by invading the club ranks in a matrimonial way later. Two years ago the club played this mean trick upon the fair ones and soon afterwards its president and three or four of its best members were caught in cupid's meshes and are now sedate benedicts. As a result the other members were so badly discouraged they alloyed the club to languish for awhile, and this may be the result of the coming banquet.

BACK TO BATTLE.

Senatorial Workers Rush in After Christmas Lull.

Caucus May Now be Held on January 10th--Taylor Appears to Get Stronger.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., December 27.—Those interested directly in the senatorial contest yesterday hurried back from the Christmas festivities at their homes and were much in evidence in the lobby of the Denison during the afternoon, but in the evening the same old quiet settled down once more on the scene. The Beveridge interests were looked after by J. M. McIntosh, of Connersville; John Wingate and John Bonnell, who came in during the afternoon.

J. Frank Hanly, with his lieutenants, Senator Wood and Representative Marshall, of Lafayette, took possession of their rooms in the afternoon and are now fixtures. The only Taylor man in sight was Senator Gilbert, who returned last evening. Judge Taylor was expected to return this morning, but will probably be delayed a day or two by the death of R. T. McDonald, of Fort Wayne. Major Steele has been here, and yesterday he was reinforced by J. F. Stutesman, of Peru; W. H. Sanders, editor of the Marion Chronicle, and Jasper Gauntt, ex-chairman of the county committee of Grant. Thus far there is no evidence of lieutenants of Frank B. Posey, although Mr. Posey is expected within a day or two.

Senator Goodwine came in to resume work. Representative Faris dropped in the hotel long enough to shake hands and to say a word or two as to his attitude. Said he: "I do not intend to take any part in the senatorial contest. Those gentlemen who have been alarmed lest the congressional delegation intends to take a hand in this race need worry no longer, for the delegation does not intend to. I am sure that whoever may be selected by the legislature will be acceptable to the congressional delegation, and we will work harmoniously. All the candidates are friends of mine, but I will take no part in favor of any one."

Another arrival of the day was George F. McCulloch, of Muncie. Mr. McCulloch has been claimed as supporter of some of the candidates, but last evening he declined to commit himself.

But one lonely little argument was used yesterday, and that was directed at Judge Taylor, and was to the effect that he is too old to be chosen senator. It has been heard before, and Senator Gilbert, as the only Taylor man in the house, stated, when asked about it, that Judge Taylor is sixty years old.

Most of the time was devoted to telling how absolutely certain the election of each candidate is. Not one of them has outwardly lost any hope, and from the claims made Indiana will be the first state in the union to have six members of the United States senate. In the intervals between claims there was some discussion of the proper time for holding the senatorial caucus. Those members here yesterday were in favor of an earlier caucus than the date first suggested, January 12. The date now being considered is Tuesday night, January 10. The reason for the change is that the caucus for the organization of the house and senate, already settled for January 4, will take but one evening, and to fix the senatorial caucus for the 10th will give the six full days for work in the senatorial matter. If the balloting for senator continues over two or three evenings, or more, the members argue that so much the more should the caucus be set for earlier in the week, as nothing will be accomplished in the legislature until the senatorial question is settled. At the most it is not believed that over ten days will be lost if the caucus is fixed for the 10th, and if an election is made the first evening the legislature can be so much sooner consider the bills to be presented. It is probable that January 10 will be the date on which the selection of a senator will be made.

FLOWERS AND TEARS

Bear Witness to Sorrow at Bier and Grave.

Remains of R. T. McDonald Laid to the Last Rest.

Vast Assemblage Attends the Funeral Services.

Eulogy Pronounced by Rev. Dr. Moffat and Hymns Sung by the Haydn Quartet--Many Floral Tributes.

This afternoon, in the presence of a vast assemblage of relatives, friends and business associates, the impressive funeral rites of Ranald Trevor McDonald were held at the family residence, 252 West Wayne street. Previous to the services the employes of the Fort Wayne Electric corporation, several hundred in number, passed through the front parlor, where rested the casket, and looked for the last time upon the face of the man who had been a friend and a benefactor. Then came the employes of the Jenney Electric Light and Power company, who were followed by the employes of the Artificial Ice company.

Flowers in all the lavish beauty that nature could bestow were on the casket and around it. So numerous were the tributes that THE SENTINEL will not endeavor to name them singly. The most elaborate offering was made by the employes of the electric light works. It was a spread of 100 roses, which covered three-quarters of the top of the casket. Festooned around the upper edge of the casket was a rope of roses, extending all around.

The services began with a passage of scripture read by Rev. Dr. Moffat, which was followed by that inspiring hymn, "Remember Now, Thy Creator," sung by the Haydn quartet. Then Dr. Moffat delivered his eulogy and a prayer, after which the quartet sang the hymn, "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me."

Dr. Moffat's eulogistic remarks were as follows:

By the death of R. T. McDonald a citizen of great business capacity and physical energy has been suddenly called away in the midst of his years from the scenes of his activity. Beginning in early life with an ambition to make his mark in the business and financial world, he concentrated his remarkable abilities upon the object of his ambition. By his quickness and keenness of perception, aggressive energy and indomitable will, his business and financial interests increased, and became constantly more and more widely extended; day by day they became a heavier burden, and he went on resolutely under the weight of the accumulating burden, till death came and released him. And now for him it is all over. The busy brain is still. The restless body is at rest.

More particularly of his character and career it is not necessary that I shall speak. They are widely known all over our country. And to you, his friends and neighbors in this city, which was his home, which owes so much to his interest in its prosperity and where so many have found employment in the great industry built up by his genius, to all who will miss him so much and so long, the story of his life is familiar.

Nothing remains for us to do, or that we can do, but to extend our heartfelt sympathies to his grief-stricken loved ones, who mourn the loss of a beloved husband, father, son and brother, and to commend them to the tender sympathy and care of our heavenly father.

At the conclusion of the services the casket was sealed and borne by the pall bearers to the hearse. The interment being private only members of the family followed the remains to Lindenwood.

MANY FROM ABROAD.

It is doubtful if ever a Fort Wayne citizen was laid to his last rest with a greater demonstration of sorrow, nor attended by more people, than was the late Mr. McDonald. Aside from the army of workmen who came to pay their respects there were many from the ranks of the various Masonic lodges, both in this city and Indianapolis, and scores of men identified with Mr. McDonald's numerous business interests abroad.

THE BEST IN HISTORY

Verdict of Merchants on Their Christmas Trade.

Expression is General in All Lines of Business.

Everybody Delighted With This Holiday Season.

Local Railway Managers Report the Biggest Business in the History of Their Lines.

As showing the condition of Christmas trade this year as compared with former years a SENTINEL reporter sought expressions from a number of business men today with the following result:

Foster Furniture Store—We had the biggest Christmas trade in the history of our store.

Rurode Dry Goods and Carpet Co.—We had a magnificent business, especially the last three days of last week. It was ahead of last year and we have reason to feel highly satisfied.

Ben Lehman—Our business was immense.

George Belott—Did more business than in the three previous Christmas seasons combined.

Meyer Bros.' Hat Store—Business was better than a year ago.

M. Frank & Co.'s Bee Hive—Much better than last year.

Reuben Patterson—Not only was our Christmas trade ahead of last year but all of the fall season we felt an increase over the previous year. Business has been very good with us.

John M. Miller Furniture Co.—Decided increase over last year.

W. J. Kettler & Son's furniture store.—Our business showed an increase of 65 per cent. over the holiday season of last year.

Wolf & Dessauer—Biggest business we ever had during a holiday season.

Pixley & Co.—Our Christmas trade was better than last year and probably the best we ever had in that season.

People's Store—Business was remarkably good and we don't believe we ever had better.

Reports from the White Fruit House, the Greatest Grocery, J. M. Kane's the Lehman book store and other places go to show that everybody had a splendid Christmas business this year.

[ON THE RAILWAYS.

Another and strong evidence of the improved condifions is the immense holiday traffic of the railways, which is said to be far in excess of any previous year. This increase is not confined to the passenger business, it being just as marked in mail, express and freight traffic.

THIEF CAUGHT.

Councilman Zurbuch's Horse and Buggy Stolen.

Deputy Sheriff Whitney and Mr. Zurbuch Overtook the Horse and Thief West of Churubusco.

Councilman Zurbuch and party of friends went into the country yesterday with two horses and buggies. Returning home the party all rode in one vehicle and led Mr. Zurbuch's horse. While riding along the road towards town they were overtaken by a young fellow who asked for a ride.

He was invited to jump into Mr. Zurbuch's buggy. Arrived at a farm house the pleasure seekers went in to get warm and invited the young stranger to go with them. He preferred to stay outside and watch (?) the horses. When Councilman Zurbuch and his friends came out to finish the trip to town the councilman's horse and buggy was missing and so was the young stranger. The party came on to the city and notified Sheriff Melching and all night the sheriff's deputies were hunting for the horse and buggy. This morning Deputy Sheriff Whitney and Mr. Zurbuch started out again on a hunt.

At noon Mrs. Zurbuch received a telephone message from her husband at Churubusco notifying her that he and Deputy Whitney had found the horse and the thief six miles west of Churubusco and would bring them back to Fort Wayne this evening.

Cupid is usually pictured as a frolicsome, playful little fellow, always smiling or laughing, but with just a trace of malice in his make-up.

This is the artist's ideal. In reality, Cupid in these days is a matter-of-fact little chap. He is beginning to learn that life is not all a summer holiday. He is fast learning that sick men and unhealthy women have no right to tamper with love or matrimony. It is best for themselves and best for the human race that they should not. It is not a hard matter for men and women to preserve their health if they wish. It is far from impossible for them to restore it after it has been lost. That being the case, the modern Cupid is right in looking with disfavor upon matrimonial matches between sick men and unhealthy women. Ill-health in a woman is generally the result of some weakness or disorder of the distinctly feminine organism that is slowly sapping her vitality. At first, a little pain and slight indispositions which seem to her quite unimportant. They grow steadily worse until she suffers all the time from burning and dragging sensations, and occasionally has to take to her bed. Finally they completely unfit her for wifehood and motherhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an unfailing remedy for ailments of this kind. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in maternity and makes them well and strong. It transforms weak, sickly, nervous invalids into healthy, happy wives and mothers. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest druggist will recommend a substitute.

"Since I wrote you we have had a baby girl born to us," writes W. R. Malcolm, of Kneebel, Clay Co., Ark. "My wife took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during the expectant period and until confinement, and she had no trouble to mention. A sto ter, healthier child was never born. Our child will be one year of age on the 8th inst., and she has not been sick a day. Has not had so much as the colic."

WHEN Paul Newman, ex-attorney general of Hawaii, was the other day admitted to practice before the United States supreme court he registered from "the Territory of Hawaii."

FORAIN, the French caricaturist, was recently asked whether he found depravity the deeper among the rich or the poor. "There is no such thing as depravity," he replied, with all the disdain he could put into his voice. "At the top it is diseased nerves; at the bottom hunger."

THIS has been a disastrous year for shipping on the great lakes, and the losses from wrecks foot up a total of more than two and one-half millions. But to offset this the traffic has been unprecedentedly large. For the port of Cleveland alone the tonnage received was 200,000 tons in excess of last year and many other ports can show similar gains. All things considered, the lake shipowners have little cause to complain.

THE joint commission to remove causes of irritation between the United States and Canada will not accomplish as much as was hoped, but nevertheless will make considerable progress. The very fact of an amicable consultation will tend to promote concord. As neighbors the United States and Canada may not become so familiar as to lend and borrow household furniture, but will at least be on living terms and willing to lean over the fence long enough to pass the time of day.

ONE of the articles of the agreement entered into by the American and Spanish evacuation commission in Cuba to govern the Spanish troops who by reason of the lack of transports will be forced to remain in the island after January 1, specifies that "the Spanish troops shall punctually pay for all they buy." This will afford a novel experience to Cuban merchants, who have grown accustomed to the practice of the Spanish soldiers to take what they want without pretense of paying. Until the novelty wears off the merchants will not be anxious to have the evacuation complete.

OF the late R. T. McDonald, the Indianapolis Sentinel has this to say in an editorial: "The death of Mr. R. T. McDonald, of Fort Wayne, which was announced in the Sunday Sentinel, is an irreparable blow to that city and a serious loss to the state. Mr. McDonald was one of the strong men of Indiana and a great leader in the financial and industrial world. He had originated and builded up many great enterprises, and his name was synonymous with pluck, energy, courage and dash. For a number of years he had been recognized as the foremost representative of the business interests of Fort Wayne, and he had done more than any other citizen to promote her growth and prosperity. He was a large, broad-gauged, big-hearted, large-brained man, and his premature death will be sincerely regretted by a host of friends and acquaintances all over the country."

Senator Gilbert Confident Judge Taylor Will Win.

He Was In Fort Wayne Monday En Route to Indianapolis—Will Stay There.

Senator Newt. W. Gilbert, of Angola, was in Fort Wayne Monday, en route to Indianapolis. Mr. Gilbert has charge of Judge Taylor's canvass for the United States senatorship and expresses himself as quite confident the judge will be chosen. From now on until after the caucus Senator Gilbert will stay in Indianapolis and devote his best efforts to booming the Fort Wayne candidate for the United States senatorship.

Attorney R. B. Hanna will go to Indianapolis this evening and will work for Judge Taylor's election until after the caucus. Mr. Hanna's race for the senate made him friends throughout the state and his influence will aid the judge considerably. Chas. R. Lane may not go to the capital until next week.

ENDLESS CHAINS.

A Clothiers' Journal Does Not Approve of the System.

The Clothiers' and Haberdashers' Weekly, the official journal of the retail clothiers of America, says: "The progressive nuisance, the endless chain system, after bringing untold misery to the victims of beggars, has been introduced with dire effect as an auxiliary to the sale of clothing as well as of other merchandise. The system, as practiced by a few retail clothiers, is to offer a a suit worth $15 to the person who will pay $2.00 and sell ten tickets for 20 cents each to other persons, who in turn become agents for the sale of similar tickets for the purpose of obtaining a like reward. Of course those who first embark in the scheme generally gain a good suit at a small expenditure; but as the chain lengthens the sale of tickets becomes more difficult, and many, after selling a few tickets, the price of which the clothier receives, abandon the scheme in despair. While a merchant who starts such endless chains may realize an immediate profit, he must remember that every man who has forfeited time and money in a futile endeavor to sell sufficient tickets to entitle him to the reward, is lost to him as a customer, if he does not become an enemy. Moreover, such schemes invariably are recognized by swindlers as containing wide possibilities for fraud, and thus gather upon the clothier's head the aggregate odium that attaches to whoever misuses them in his name. No permanent success in business is possible through other than straightforward methods of buying and selling."

WILL NOT TALK.

President Robison Refused to Affirm or Deny Transfer Deals.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 27.—President Frank De Haas Robison, of the Cleveland base ball club, the most talked-of man in league circles, is home from the league meeting. He absolutely refuses, however, to talk on the baseball situation in this city or the reduction of the league to eight clubs. When seen yesterday he was asked to affirm or deny the story that the Cleveland and St. Louis clubs were to be transferred, but all he would say was: "I won't talk on that nonsensical subject." It is known that he will leave for St. Louis in a few days, and his object there can easily be surmised.

HAS NOT SAILED.

Story That the Crew of the Brinkerhoff Was Mutinous.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The ferry boat J. H. Brinkerhoff, "the Cuban navy," did not sail for Cuba on Saturday as was expected, but is still tied up at Stapleton. Considerable difficulty is being experienced in shipping a crew to take the vessel to Cuba, as her ability to withstand rough weather in the open sea is questioned. It is alleged that the Brinkerhoff returned the first time, not on account of the fire which broke out on board, but owing to the fact that the crew became mutinous and refused to continue the voyage.

PEACE OFFERING

By Senator Frye to the Central Maine Hospital at Lewiston.

LEWISTON, Me., Dec. 27.—Mrs. W. H. White has received a telegram from her father, Senator Frye, at Washington directing her to present $1,000 to the Central Maine general hospital, Lewiston, as "a peace offering and Christmas gift" in memory of Emma Frye, his daughter.

Proposed Legislation.

The committee at work to recommend a revision of township laws has about decided that a legislative board of five men shall have power to correct and revise the tax levy and various other things now exclusively in the hands of the township trustee. The chairman of these various township bodies shall comprise a similar body to supervise the tax levy and expenditures of the county officials. It is something like the supervisor system of New York, Michigan and Illinois.

AT THE CAPITAL.

Allen County Trustees Went Down Monday Afternoon.

A Big Meeting of Indiana Trustees Will be Held, Commencing Today—Will Advocate Changes.

The township trustees of Indiana are holding a meeting in Indianapolis this week and Allen county is well represented. Monday afternoon the following trustees left over the Wabash for Indianapolis: Schmetzer, Wayne township; McQuiston, Washington township; Shookman, Marion township; Bloom, St. Joe township; Schlaudrauf, Adams township; Fry, Jefferson township; Webster, Pleasant township; Young, Lafayette township. These gentlemen expected to be joined on the train by Trustee Woebbeking, of Maumee, and Trustee Johnson, of Eel River. Trustee Gorrell had been chosen to present the resolutions of the Allen county officers to the state meeting, but sickness in his family prevented him from making the trip.

There are more than 1,000 trustees in Indiana, and it is anticipated that more than one-half of these trustees will be in attendance at this week's meeting. The Allen county trustees will be home on Thursday.

AID FOR THE WIFE

From the Cattlemen Who Killed Her Husband.

After Trial and Acquittal the Men Rode to Her Home and Gave the Woman a Bag of Gold.

CHADRON, Neb., Dec. 27.—As a sequel to the court scene at Hot Springs, S. D., last week, in which thirty-two cattlemen were acquitted of the charge of killing John Ekeman, a sheep herder, in Fall River county, S. D., last August, a chivalaric committee composed of the exonorated cattlemen rode up to the little cabin occupied by the destitute family of the dead man. The leader knocked at the door and Mrs. Ekeman responded. Her face grew pale and she trembled.

"Mrs. Ekeman," said the leader, "we have come to make you a little Christmas present. We shot your husband, but it was in self defense. We know you are without funds. We would gladly restore you your husband, but that is impossible, so we do the next best thing—give you the means to support yourself and children. If you need more call on us."

And he handed her a bag containing $1,000 in gold. The plainsmen raised their hats, mounted their horses and rode away.

DEWEY WANTS SAILORS.

Seamen Whose Enlistment Has Expired Want to Come Home.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—A special from Washington says:

Admiral Dewey cabled to the navy department asking when he might expect the Buffalo to arrive at Manila and requesting that she might be hurried as much as possible. The Buffalo is carrying 500 men to the Asiatic squadron to take the places of those whose terms of service have expired and who are now exceedingly anxious to return to the United States.

Many of those men would ordinarily have come home on the flagship Olympia, which was on the point of starting for San Francisco when the Maine was blown up, but was retained by Admiral Dewey on a cable warning from Acting Secretary Roosevelt.

The admiral has now informed the navy department that conditions in the Philippines have so materially improved that he will send a few officers and men to San Francisco on the next army transport which leaves Manila.

He is not yet willing, however, to recommend any reduction of the fleet and notwithstanding the reports to the contrary, he has never intimated any desire to come home himself, but in fact refused to take advantage of the permission extended to him of temporarily leaving the east and visiting Paris when the peace commission was there.

A BIG COPPER DEAL.

Eastern Capital Buys Mines in Arizona—Will Refine in Connecticut.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27,—One of the largest deals in copper property ever effected in this city has been completed. Fourteen claims adjoining each other and adjacent to the great copper mine of W. A. Clark, passed into the hands of eastern capitalists.

Franklin Farrell, of Ansonia, Conn., and L. J. Greulich and W. R. Coe, of this city, are the principal members of the syndicate of purchasers. G. W. Hull, of Arizona, was the principal owner of the properties sold. He was represented by James Shirley, a mining engineer, of Prescott, Ariz.

The property is located in the town of Jerome, Yavapi county, Arizona, and is known as the United Verde extension. Mr. Clark's property, the United Verde, is regarded as one of the greatest copper mines in the world as it pays its owners about $200,000 monthly.

The property transferred here is of about the same extent and is said to carry copper ore of equal value.

It is the intention of the purchasers to convert the ore into crude copper at the mine and ship the product to copper refining establishments at Bridgeport and Ansonia, Conn., to be refined.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Family of Christian Scientists Refused Medical Assistance.

OMAHA, Neb. 27.—Mrs. J. W. Eller was so badly burned Sunday afternoon by the explosion of boiling turpentine on a stove that she died last night from the effect of her injuries. Her husband and two sons, Wayne and Hartley, were also slightly burned. The family are Christian Scientists, and refused medical assistance. Great reticence has been observed and only members of the Christian Science faith are admitted to the residence.

TWO HAVE LEPROSY.

The Cases Are in Ohio, Near Toledo.

Daughters of a Soldier Have Had the Plague a Dozen Years—Will Now be Isolated.

COMUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 27.—Dr. Charles O. Probst, secretary of the state board of health, has investigated the two reported cases of leprosy at New Lexington, Perry county. He has found the cases to be of genuine, fully developed leprosy. The lepers are Hattie Garry, aged twenty-two, and her little sister, Hannah, twelve years old. For a dozen years Mrs. Garry, a soldier's widow, has managed to conceal from her neighbors her children's affliction. Finally, forced by straitened circumstances she told the story to the county authorities.

Eminent physicians decided that the disease really was leprosy. The two girls will be isolated in a cabin to be built among the hills outside of the town limits. In the cabin, which will be the only one of its kind in Ohio, the faithful mother will care for her daughters, while food and clothing will be furnished by the county.

These cases are hereditary. The father of the girls contracted the disease in the south while a soldier in the civil war. Symptoms of leprosy did not develop until after the father's death. For the last few years the girls have rarely left their mother's cottage, and that usually after dark. In the eldest girl, Hattie, the leprosy is in an advanced stage. In the case of the younger child the disease has not progressed so far.

MILES CALLED DOWN.

Swift Objects to His Statements About Beef.

His Statements Concerning Commissary General Egan Were Also Not Pleasing and Are Subject to Criticism.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. — There were but three members of the war investigating commission at its offices today, and after a short informal discussion the regular session was deferred until tomorrow. No witnesses have been summoned. The Swift Beef company, of Chicago, has forwarded to the commission a communication taking exceptions to the reflections made by General Miles on the character of the beef furnished the expeditionary forces in the war. The communication is not made public and will not be until it is brought officially before the commission. The exceptions also taken to the feature of General Miles' testimony by Commisary General Egan will be taken up by the commission when it has its next full session, and general Eagan may be recalled to testify. This question of the character of the beef supply may possibly open up a rather prolonged inquiry. Unless something unexpected should develop, however, the commission expects to close its regular sessions before the middle of January and possibly finish up its work entirely by February 1, so as to submit its report to congress about that time. This is barring a possible broad investigation as to the beef issue.

General Humphreys, the depot quartermaster in charge at Tampa during the time covered the complaints against that department there, has been subpoenaed from Havana and was expected here today, but will not reach here now until the first week of January.

M'DONALD'S MONUMENT.

A Suggestion as to How He Would Best Love to be Remembered.

EDITOR SENTINEL: There is lain to rest in Fort Wayne today, one of its most forceful, most useful and most loyal citizens. Single handed he built us from the humblest possible beginnings, one of this city's greatest manufacturing industries, and one that has made the name of Fort Wayne familiar throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Had he but known how suddenly he was to have been taken off, I believe he would have said to his Fort Wayne friends, there is no monument that you can erect to my memory that would be so grateful to me, as to have you take hold of the great enterprise I have established in your midst, and perpetuate and enlarge it, under the care of the trained lieutenants who have been associated with me. Let a marble slab set in the wall of the building say: "Fort Wayne Electric Corporation, Founded by R. T. McDonald."

It is well understood that the works have always been immensely profitable, showing a monthly profit of $20,000 to $25,000. For many years it paid out in dividends $200,000 annually.

If the representatives of Mr. McDonald's interest, including such of the trusted employes of the company, as Charles S. Knight, Henry J. Miller, James J. Wood and Charles A. Munson will take the initiative in this matter, I believe Fort Wayne capital can be found to add to and aid the electric light works in whatever way is deemed most advisable. D. N. FOSTER.

The Sun's Changing Face.

For many years careful drawings of the shifting spots seen on the face of the sun have been made at the Kew Observatory, near London. This year it has been decided to discontinue these sketches, which were made by hand, on account of the great progress recently accomplished in solor photography. Photographs of the sun, which are now taken every fair day, at various observatories, present a more complete record of old Sol's changes of countenance than the most careful drawings could do.

Saloonkeepers Without License Must Settle.

There are many other saloonkeepers who have not taken out their city license and these fellows will also be brought into court.

THE NEW PUMP.

The committee on contracts and franchises did not hold a meeting last evening to consider the contract of the waterworks trustees with the Holly Manufacturing company. Members of the committee have expressed themselves, however, and it is believed a majority of the councilmen are opposed to the purchase for the reason that the city now has too many pumps with capacity twice as large as the needs of the city. The claim is also made that the majority of the council will vote against approving the contract. The city council will hold a regular meeting tonight and may discuss the matter.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. Where the Bears' Noses Go.

It has long been remarked by furriers that the skins of the polar bears which they receive are invariably minus the bear's nose. This fact is the result of a superstition among the Eskimos that whenever a polar bear has been killed the hunter must cut off its nose and throw it upon the ice; otherwise bad luck will follow him in subsequent expeditions.

BRICE'S CAREER.

Charles Foster Relates the Interesting Story.

Was Associated With the Lima Financier in a Railway Enterprise—News of Rail and Shop.

A most interesting story of a most remarkable career is the one related by Hon. Charles Foster concerning the late Calvin S. Brice.

"I first met Mr. Brice in 1871," said Mr. Foster. "He was then a very young man. He was a Lima lawyer without business. He never was a successful lawyer in matters which came before an average attorney. At that time I had just been elected to my first term in congress. Mr. Brice came down from Lima to see me about the Lake Erie and Western. That road was then built from Fremont to Findlay and was projected to Lima, Celina, through Indiana on to Louisville. The projectors ran out of money and the enterprise was stopped.

"The Basil law had just been passed by the Ohio legislature. This law was modeled after the Cincinnati law, and gave any municipality in the state the right to build a railroad. At this time Mr. Brice had no connection with railway affairs. He came to see me about the propriety of extending the Lake Erie and Western under this law. After his explanation of how this law could be utilized. I felt impressed with his views. He had no money and no property and I had no interest in the road. The directors of the road were called, and Mr. Brice and myself were authorized to make the effort to secure the approval of the people in towns from Findlay to the Indiana line.

"We commenced at Findlay, visited each township, town and city, presenting the matter and securing a favorable vote in every township and municipality. Arrangements were made for continuing the road. Young as he was, Mr. Brice took a prominent part in directing the affairs of the company. The enterprise was pushed, and as fast as we passed a township we secured bonds.

"Just as we reached St. Marys, the supreme court declared the Basil law unconstitutional. Our fond dreams were nipped in the bud. Those of us who had anything were loaded with these bonds. Mr. Brice's intuitions at that time were quite as unerring as he demonstrated them to be later.

"A few days after the decision of the court Mr. Brice came to me and said the road would have to go into the hands of a receiver. He thought the other side would make such application and that we had better take action at once. Mr. Brice went to Fremont and made application for a receiver; it was granted, and I. H. Bargoon appointed.

"It transpired that we were only a day or two in advance of action taken by the other side. They commenced suit against our stockholders for liability on stock. Mainly through Mr. Brice's genius the hearing was continually put off until more than three years had passed, when the bondholders seemed to have become disgusted with their attorneys and dismissed them, and placed their affairs in the hands of Mr. Hodgskin.

"It was then 1876. Mr. Hodgskin had experience in railway matters, and was anxious for a settlement. This was agreed upon, and at last a new company was formed, with a capital of $1,500,000, one-tenth of which went to Mr. Brice and myself, and we were made directors.

"As before stated, we had reached St. Marys. Hodgskin was anxious to extend the road to Minister, Bremen and Celina. We consented to accomplish this that a bond of $300,000 might be placed on the property. Hodgskin had monumental egotism and could talk German fluently, and believed the Germans of that section could be prevailed upon to take the bonds. He visited all the towns in the vicinity of St. Mary's and failed to secure a dollar. Those Germans seemed unable to discriminate between liability on stocks and bonds.

"Mr. Brice and I met him on his return and found him discouraged. We suggested to him that if somebody would go down and get those people to give $100,000 he could afford to give one-half to the parties having it done. Mr. Brice and myself made the visit. I had some reputation as a public man, while Brice was practically unknown. We called the people together and I made the statement that if they would give $100,000 and the right of way we would build the road to their towns. One-half of this amount was to be paid when the road was in operation and the other half in three and six months.

"After making this statement to them I left Brice to work out the problem. In two weeks he had the full amount subscribed. Twenty miles of the road was to be built. Hodgskin seemed unable to build it. I knew General Sam Thomas, of Columbus. I said I would go with Brice to Thomas and thought we could get him to build the twenty miles. We made the visit. It was the first time Brice and Thomas met. I left Brice with Thomas and in a few days Thomas agreed to build the road, although he told me afterwards that he had no intention of taking the contract. The road was built in 1878. All this time Brice had no money and money had to be advanced to him to pay his expenses.

"I went into congress on the 4th of March, 1879. The annual meeting of the directors of the road was called for April 10th. In March Hodgskin died. The owners of the property lived in Europe. Hodgskin was the only man who could vote their stock. Mr. Brice and myself appeared at the annual meeting. We had but one-tenth of the stock but we did the voting. I was elected president of the road and Brice vice president.

"Prior to the death of Hodgskin negotiations had been pending with the owners of the road extending from Muncie, Ind., to Bloomington, Ill., to consolidate and build the fifty-four miles between Muncie and Celina. Mr. Brice had been associated with Mr. Hodgskin in those negotiations. After my election to the presidency of the Lake Erie and Western these negotiations were resumed and ended in the consolidation.

"The consolidated road was then purchased by a syndicate which agreed to turn over for certain securities a complete road from Sandusky to Bloomington. This was consummated the day I was first nominated for governor. I went from the convention to New York, and there met Mr. Brice and the officials of the syndicate, and formally agreed on the part of the Lake Erie and Western, to transfer it to the syndicate. Mr. Brice became active in the affairs of the road, and soon became identified with the great interests of what was known as the Seney crowd in New York.

"After my election as governor I went to New York. Seney said to me: 'Who is this man Brice? He is the most remarkable man I ever met. He gives opinions promptly. When I ask my lawyers for certain opinions it takes them months to give them. Brice gives his at once.' In this Lake Erie and Western deal Brice made probably $200,000. He did this by buying stock and selling it. He bought anything and everything and he did it without money. The men of affairs had implicit confidence in him. When he sold it was always at an advanced figure. He was the most successful borrower I ever saw. That first year he was in New York he made $2,000,000. Not only had he made this money, but he achieved a most enviable position among projectors of great enterprises.

"About 1878, the road then known as the Atlantic and Lake Erie, now the Ohio Central, was in a bad way financially. The late General Ewing was president. I was an interested party. My experience with with Mr. Brice turned me to him at once as the lawyer I wanted to put the road into the hands of a receiver, as well as a large coal company. He soon had the road turned over to a receiver.

"There were all sorts of complications. In nine months Mr. Brice had all complications cleared, the road sold and the title in the hands of Twing Brooks, now general counsel for the Pennsylvania, and Brice himself the owner of one-eleventh of the property. Brice charged an enormous fee for his services, and when Brooks demurred, Brice said he did not want the money, but would take the amount in stock.

"Mr. Brice's relations with Seney were such as to induce that gentleman to construct the Ohio Central and organize a large coal company, Brice becoming the active manager of affairs. It was he who discovered and purchased the land known as Ohio Central terminal facilities in Toledo.

"About this time Mr. Brice became the inspiration and manager of the inception and construction of the Nickel Plate, paralleling the Lake Shore from Buffalo to Chicago. He got a subscription of $18,000,000 to its construction, supposed to be ample for its construction and equipment. It turned out to be several millions too small. The road was in a bankrupt condition when Vanderbilt began negotiations for its purchase.

"Mr. Vanderbilt said to Brice, 'Your road is bankrupt!' 'No one knows that better than I do,' said Brice, 'but do you want to compete with a receiver?' He sold the road at a large profit and made a half million dollars out of it for himself."

Settle One Suit to Take up Another.

The Wabash company has been having its share of troubles in the way of damage suits lately. Last Wednesday it paid to Warren Gates and William Gundrum, of Logansport, $1,000 in settlement of a claim for killing cattle in a freight wreck near Huntington. Now comes news of the filing of a suit in the United States court in Iowa. In this case the plaintiff is Mrs. Truax and she demands $10,000 for the loss of a son, C. H. Truax, who was killed at Churubusco several months ago. The readers of THE SENTINEL will remember that Truax was killed while en route east with a big lot of poultry, the train upon which he was riding being wrecked. The deceased, the plaintiff says, was her support.

Change of Time.

Next Sunday the Wabash will issue a time card, effective on that date, that will change the time of departure from this city of two or three trains. The westbound train that now leaves here at 8:25 in the morning, will under the new time card leave at 8:20. No. 10, due here at 8:25 a. m., and No. 2, due at 6:15 a. m., both eastbound, will also depart five minutes earlier under the new time card.

Will Resume Work Tomorrow.

All office and factory work was suspended at the electric works today, but THE SENTINEL was informed this morning that operations would be resumed tomorrow. There are a number of important contracts on hand and probably it will be necessary to work over time in order that they may be filled within the time limit.

Struck by a Train.

Southbound train No. 2, on the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, struck a buggy at Hodgman Crossing, two miles north of Sturgis, Mich., at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Charles Tasch, the occupant of the vehicle, had a most remarkable escape from serious injury, if not from death. He was tossed aside upon the frozen ground, but received only a flesh wound over the left eye and a bruise upon the left arm. The horse escaped injury, but the buggy was smashed into smithereens. The train was in charge of Conductor Grout and Engineer C. Rehling was at the throttle.

Personal and General.

Lee Wolford, of the Wabash shops, is in Wabash visiting friends.

Master Mechanic G. S. McKee, of the Wabash, will arrive home this evening.

Louis Seibt and George Stasser, machinists, are at Wabash doing some repair work on an engine.

After an illness of ten days, James Fulford reported for work at the Pittsburg tank shop this morning.

Harry Timmis, who had a foot hurt last week, resumed work at the Bass blacksmith shop this morning.

E. A. Colman and George Jantz, of the Wabash shops, have returned from Toledo, where they went a few days ago on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. James Griffin received as a Christmas present a fine baby boy. The father is a brakeman on the Grand Rapids road.

Thomas Moore, the Wabash witchman who was injured on November 30, is out and intends to resume work on the first of the new year.

Jacob Haffner, the carpenter, has recovered from his recent illness, and this morning reported for duty at the shops of Rhinesmith & Simonson.

Frank Minnich, boilermaker in the Pittsburg shops, was summoned to Huntington last night by a telegram conveying the sad news of the death of a relative.

George Waldschmidt, the veteran Pittsburg shopman who has been ailing for several days, is improving and will probably be able to resume work in a short time. He has lumbago.

During the past four weeks 1,098 trains ran through Peru, over the Wabash road, beating all previous records. Peru is the junction point of the Toledo and the Detroit branches of the system.

A Hettler and B. Bowers have returned to their duties in the Pittsburg shops, after a week's sport in the vicinity of Lima. The next rabbit census will testify to the terrible slaughter of cotton tails by these Nimrods.

John McDorman and Stephen Griffin, who have been off duty on account of injuries to their feet, resumed their places in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop this morning. McDorman was off two weeks and Griffin one week.

There were three engines, Nos. 172, 244 and 140, turned out of the Pittsburg shops last week and four in for repairs. They were Nos. 247, 98, 118, 657. Engines 129 and 409, of a pattern too light for the service of today, were consigned to the scrap pile.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Frederick, of Dayton, Ohio, are spending a few days in the city, visiting relatives and friends. Mr. Frederick, who is a machinist, is employed in the Smithvale Pump works. He is an old Fort Wayne boy and up to eighteen months ago was employed in the Bass works.

The funeral of the late Robert Ward, the Lake Shore yard conductor, which took place yesterday, was largely attended, particularly by the members of the A. O. U. W., of which he was a member. The railway men were also quite numerous, attesting by their presence the high esteem they entertained for the deceased.

No Pigeon, Poultry and Pet Show for Fort Wayne.

Fort Wayne Homing Club Held a Meeting Last Night and So Decided—Project Abandoned for a Year.

The Fort Wayne Homing club met last night to discuss plans for the proposed pigeon, poultry and pet show, announced to take place in February, and the project met with such opposition that it was finally decided by the club to abandon the show for one year and not attempt to hold an exhibition until either the month of December, 1899, or January, 1900.

The arguments in favor of giving up the show, announced for February seem to be well grounded. The time was shown by good calculators to be entirely too short to get together the exhibits in large enough number or of best varieties, and the show could not be postponed on account of the near approach of the moulting season of birds. The members of the Fort Wayne Homing club say that next year they will take up the show in earnest and begin early enough to ensure success.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever, that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong; I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Dreier & Bros. drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

Fort Wayne Lodge of Perfection will have an election of officers tonight.

Railways Promote Prosperity.

It has been truly said that every prosperous railroad carries its prosperity into every city and hamlet upon its line. Railroads in prosperous conditions spend their money liberally along their lines in the way of improvements. So long as the earnings of a railroad are kept up, their employes are able to earn good salaries and it is to the interest of every business man to have railway employes earning good salaries, because no class of people are larger consumers in proportion to the amount of their income than are the railroad employes.

A compulsory reduction of passenger fares will affect the prosperity of any railroad when the average earnings are barely above two cents per mile for each passenger carried. The average in Indiana for last year was a fraction over two cents per mile. The earnings for the current year have been on the down grade and expenses have been largely increased by the war tax, so that the showing is not favorable. The deduction is clear that a two-cent fare law will not fail to cripple the railways and business in general.

Preserve the Alligator.

Since the authorities began enforcing the game law the game all over the state is becoming more plentiful. A similar law should be passed whereby the Florida alligator should be protected from the guns of the would-be sport, who goes through the country slaying them and leaving their carcasses to rot. An exchange says that a hunting party of Kissimmee killed 700 alligators recently and their remains were left for the buzzards. If such wholesale butchery of the Florida alligator is kept up the state will soon not be able to boast of this attractive saurian, which affords the northern tourist so much interest.—Jacksonville (Fla.) Metropolis.

FEARS AN ASSASSIN.

Rumor That Aguinaldo Had Fled to an Inaccessible Region.

A Bitter Opponent of the Insurgent Leader to Select Cabinet.

Aguinaldo Refuses to Release the Spanish Prisoners,

An American Named Scott Saved the Lives of Spaniards—Visayans Refuse to Join Revolution.

MANILA, Dec. 27.—The situation, so far as the insurgents are concerned here, is serious. The selection of a new cabinet has been entrusted to a Filipino named Madi, a rampant irreconcilable of unknown antecedents and a bitter opponent of Aguinaldo, especially on the question of Spanish prisoners. It is reported that Aguinaldo refused to release the prisoners, although the cabinet decided to accede to the request of General Otis for their release.

It is rumored that Aguinaldo has fled to an inaccessible region back of Cavite, with a few followers, fearing assassination. This report, however, is denied, but his sudden change of base is not explained.

EXPEDITION SAILS.

An expedition commanded by General Miller has left here for Iloilo, capital of the island of Panaya. The troops consisted of the Eighteenth infantry, the Iowa battalion, the Sixth artillery and a detachment of the signal corps. The troops were shipped on board the transports Arizona, Newport and Pennsylvania. The steamers were convoyed by the United States cruiser Baltimore and by the Callos.

SPANIARDS SEEK REFUGE.

A steamer which has arrived here from Samar reports that the Tagals insurgents have been in possession of Kalbaon since December 11th. Business there is said to be entirely suspended, and all the Spaniards of the vicinity have sought refuge in the house of a man named Scott, an American. The insurgents threatened to attack the refugees but refrained from doing so because it was reported that American soldiers were on their way there.

One Spaniard, however, was shot and another was pluckily rescued by Scott, who rode fifteen miles and demanded the man's release in the face of an armed mob of Tagals, who had been looting the Visayan stores and houses, the leaders of the insurgents being unable to control them.

All the efforts made to induce the Visayans to join the revolution have been fruitless.

SNUGLY LOCKED

In the President's Own Safe is the Paris Treaty.

Secretary Hay Refuses to Make the Document Public Says That Alone is President's Privilege.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Secretary Hay today received visits from some of the members and officers of the Paris peace commission. John Bassett Moore, upon whom, as secretary, developed some of the most delicate and weighty work required of the commission, is now engaged settling up with the department the records of the proceedings and winding up its existence. He will return to New York and resume his duties as professor of international law at Columbia university.

Notwithstanding the more or less accurate reports that have been published as to the treaty itself, Secretary Hay remains steadfast in his purpose not to make the document public until the United States senate shall have authorized it.

It is true that no law governs him in such cases, the executive branch being quite as free as the legislative to make public or to maintain as confidential treaties and protocols. But this is a privilege little availed of in late years and at present there are motives of policy that operate to prevent a departure from the usual practice.

CHANGE OF BASE.

General Keifer Will Have Headquarters in Havana.

Sets Sail for the Cuban City With His Entire Force, Midst Scenes Great Enthusiasm.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 27.—Maj. Gen. J. Warren Keifer and the headquarters officers of the First division, Seventh army corps, departed today on the United States transport Panama for Havana, where General Keifer will establish headquarters.

The trip down the river and past the wharves of this port was a splendid one. The day was beautiful and hundreds of people lined the docks to get a last look at General Keifer, who has proven himself a popular commander since he has been located here. There was a large crowd at the dock to see the general go aboard the Panama, and as he stepped from his carriage there was a cheer.

He went at once on board the ship and the lines were soon cast off.

The Ninth Illinois band was on the dock. The Panama was moored alongside the transport Chester, the latter vessel being filled with enthusiastic citizens.

Both ladies and gentlemen with members of the Seventh corps helped to honor General Kiefer with an appropriate farewell.

MORRILL WILL DIE.

Death a Matter of Only a Few Hours.

Age, Heart Trouble and La Grippe Combine in the Attack Upon the Old Senator.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Senator Morrill, of Vermont, is serious ill with an attack of grip, complicated with lung and heart trouble, and his death, it is said this afternoon, is but a matter of a short time. The senator is eighty-eight years of age, and owing to the weakness consequent on his great age, cannot shake off the attack of grip. The grip is complicated with a touch of pneumonia and laterly his heart has become affected, so that Dr. Van-Rensselaer, his physician, this afternoon held out no hope of his recovery. The senator has been for years the patriarch of the senate and has held a warm place in the affections of his associates.

He likewise has enjoyed the fullest confidence of his constituents, who, notwithstanding his years, re-elected him in 1896 for a fifth consecutive term, which will not expire until March 3, 1903.

It has been his annual custom for several years past to make one formal address on some topic of live interest to the senate and this has been listened to with attention by his colleagues, who have regarded these speeches as remarkable in view of the age of their author.

The last address was delivered a week or more before the Christmas holiday adjournment, the subject being the need of a building for the use of the United States supreme court and other courts. Its deliverance showed few signs of lessened vitality and at its conclusion the honor was done the senator of an unanimous passage of the resolution on which he spoke.

Senator Morrill was born in Strafford, Vt., April 14, 1810. In early life he was a merchant and later an agriculturist. He was elected to the house of representatives in the thirty-fourth congress and for four succeeding terms. Then he was transferred to the senate as a union republican, taking his seat March, 4, 1867. Since that time his service has been continuous and he has the record of the longest unbroken term of service in the history of the senate.

He has taken an important part in the legislation of the last thirty years, and especially on commermercial and financial questions, his position as chairman of the finance committee giving him a leading part in all measures relating to the tariff, banking or the currency.

FLAGS ARE WAVING.

American Flag is Now Floating Alongside the Spanish.

An Order by the Captain General Permits Display.

Government Offices Are the Only Buildings Excepted.

Havana is Bright With Color and Fire Crackers Are Exploding—Flags Were Secretly Made.

HAVANA, Dec. 27.—The citizens of Havana read in their morning papers an order from Captain General Castellanos permitting the display of Cuban and American flags inside the lines of Spanish jurisdiction, and early this morning the stars and stripes and the lone star of Cuba floated over many buildings in the heart of the city and in streets where the Spanish soldiers still keep guard. The only buildings excepted in the order are the government offices. Havana, therefore, is now bright with color and firecrackers are being exploded in the streets and on the plazas.

Fear of the Spaniards disappeared with the appearance of these orders, for out came thousands of flags secretly made by the women of the households or clandestinely purchased from adventurous peddlers.

Robert A. Scott, formerly city treasurer of Jacksonville, Fla., succeeded in getting a small cargo of flags into Havana some weeks ago, and flags originally costing about four cents have been selling for about a dollar each.

The order of Captain General Castellanos was issued after a conference with General Ludlow, and it will be followed tonight by an order closing the cafes at 10 p. m.

General Ludlow rode around the city late last night watching the temper of the people in the streets.

Fourteen persons were wounded by people who fired different kinds of weapons in the streets.

FOR JACK TARS.

Homes Will be Built Near Several Navy Yards.

Commodore Phillip is at the Head of the Committee Which Has Charge of the Work.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Commodore J. W. Philip is at the head of a sub-committee of the international committe of the Young Men's Christian association, which is planning to build a home for Jack Tars, near the Brooklyn navy yard, to cost $100,000.

But the home in Brooklyn will not be the only one. There will be others, costing almost as much in Boston, Newport, Norfolk, San Francisco and perhaps in Manila and in Havana.

These buildings will be for enlisted seamen and later there will be similar buildings in the large cities for enlisted soldiers.

The Brooklyn building will look something like a hotel and will be modeled internally like similar buildings in Portsmouth and Davenport, England, under the charge of Miss Weston. The cabins, or rooms, will resemble state rooms on ships, but will be separated with wire screens, so that each lodger will be by himself. They will be kept scrupulously clean and the nightly charge for use of them will be from 10 to 20 cents.

On this basis it is expected to make the branch self-supporting. There will also be a bar, but no intoxicating drinks will be sold. There will be a library and reading room and small rooms for Bible and educational classes and a gymnasium.

TOD SLOAN AT A BALL.

Jockey Causes a Furore at a Society Function at Logansport.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Dec. 27.—Logansport's aristocratic charity organization, the Free Kindergarten association, gave its annual charity ball last night at the Masonic Temple. The management has raised large sums of money every year by by this social function, but the event tonight was unusually well patronized owing to the presence of Tod Sloan, the jockey. He and his traveling companions, Eddie Bald and J. F. Dwyer, had organized a party of thirty among the Kokomo young people and came to Logansport in Sloan's special train.

Sloan was the center of attraction. The little jockey, in dress suit and diamonds, was the envy of the other young men at the ball. While Sloan is a past master in riding, he is equally proficient in dancing, and he piloted his partners in the waltz as skillfully as he ever led the bunch in the home stretch. He gave $200 to the Kindergarten association's fund. Sloan and his party will go to St. Louis.

AGAINST EXPANSION.

Pingree Secures a Speaker to Address Anti-Imperialists of Detroit.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 27.—In reply to a telegraphic request of Governor Pingree, of Michigan, for a speaker for an anti-imperialist meeting in Detroit tomorrow night, the Anti-Imperialist league has sent the Rev. Samuel E. Fuller, of Boston, Governor Pingree bearing the expense.

Secretary Winslow, of the league, will send to every member of the house and senate a letter urging them to prevent the ratification of the treaty as it stands, making the point that one-third of the senate can accomplish now what hereafter will require a majority of each branch for the approval of the president.

A BANK RAIDED.

A Big Haul Made by Thieves at Lima, Ohio.

Time and Combination Locks Yield to Expert Manipulation, and So Do Many Thousand Dollars.

LIMA, Ohio, Dec. 27.—The American National bank was robbed Sunday night of over $18,000. The stone vault was entered without the use of tools or destroying the time lock.

The bank is at Main and High streets, the most prominent corner in the city. When the janitor went to the bank yesterday he discovered the outside door of the vault open. The officers were notified and an investigation was made which disclosed that the other doors were locked, but that the vault had been looted of all its paper money and gold. There were two doors to the vault, the outer one being operated by the time lock. The inner door was locked with a combination lock. When this was opened by the officers a large sack containing $1,000 in silver, done up in packages, was found on a chair, where it had been left. Not a dollar of silver had been taken, although several sacks containing hundreds of dollars more were found on top of the safe.

Saturday night about $16,000 was deposited in the vault. This was stolen, as well as about $2,000 which had been thrown on top of the safe after it had been locked, the money having come in late.

The stockholders of the bank are among the most conservative men in the city, and the bank will not feel the loss. The door of the bank was found locked yesterday. Two electric lights had been left burning Sunday night, but the one in front of the vault was turned off.

Joseph Goldsmith, vice president of the bank, was the last person connected with the institution in the banking room. He went to the bank to write some letters, and after he had concluded locked the outer door leading to the bank. He says the electric light in front of the door was burning when he left.

There is nothing for the detectives to work on. The manner in which the robbery was done demonstrates, they say, that it was the work of experts. There was not a scratch left on the vault and nothing was molested except the money that could be easily carried away. On the top of the safe inside the vault was a large number of drafts signed in blank. They were not taken.

The vault was made for the Lima National bank before that institution failed about seven years ago. ago. For a number of years the room stood vacant, but a few years ago Goldsmith & Kalb started a private bank, which was merged into the American National June 1 last.

FROM THE ORIENT.

Cousin of the Czar Among the Arrivals at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—Among the passengers on the steamer China which arrived from the orient last night, were Grand Duke Cyril, of Russia, and his aides, Lieutenants Canseau and Couse. The grand duke, who is a cousin of the czar, is on his way to St. Petersburg, having nearly completed a tour of the world. Other passengers on the China were Captain Biddle, commander of marines of the Olympia, and J. Kuhlvrin, chief gunner of the Olympia, who are on their way to Washington for orders; Mr. Kinney, chairman of the chamber of commerce of Honolulu, on route to Washington; Professor Bell and daughters, who have been travelling in Japan; Mrs L. L. Dellaplaine and daughter, of Wheeling, W. Va., and seventeen discharged soldiers.

It was expected that Lord Beresford and Sanford B. Dole would be among the passengers but both were detained and will probably arrive on the next vessels from Honolulu.

PRISONERS ESCAPE.

Six Inmates of the Michigan House of Correction Scaled Prison Walls.

IONIA, Mich., Dec. 27.—Six prisoners escaped from the state house of correction last night. They were: Frank Edison, five years, robbery; Frank Fisher, one year, house breaking; Lewis Ferguson, four years, burglary; William Smith, three years, burglary; James Miller, four years, burglary; John Hubbard, larceny.

They were all convalescents, confined in the hospital. They cut their way through a partition wall to the knitting shop adjoining and scaled the wall. Owing to a windy night and drifting snow they left no trace.

"BAB" IS DEAD.

Well Known Newspaper Writer Dies in New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Mrs. Isobel Mallon, best known by her nomes de plume of "Bab" and "Ruth Ashmore," died at her home in this city today.

The Bachelors club is arranging for a possum pie feast on New Year's eve. Of course all ladies will be barred from participation, but they will probably even matters by invading the club ranks in a matrimonial way later. Two years ago the club played this mean trick upon the fair ones and soon afterwards its president and three or four of its best members were caught in cupid's meshes and are now sedate benedicts. As a result the other members were so badly discouraged they allowed the club to languish for awhile, and this may be the result of the coming banquet.

BACK TO BATTLE.

Senatorial Workers Rush in After Christmas Lull.

Caucus May Now be Held on January 10th—Taylor Appears to Get Stronger.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., December 27.—Those interested directly in the senatorial contest yesterday hurried back from the Christmas festivities at their homes and were much in evidence in the lobby of the Denison during the afternoon, but in the evening the same old quiet settled down once more on the scene. The Beveridge interests were looked after by J. M. McIntosh, of Connersville; John Wingate and John Bonnell, who came in during the afternoon.

J. Frank Hanly, with his lieutenants, Senator Wood and Representative Marshall, of Lafayette, took possession of their rooms in the afternoon and are now fixtures. The only Taylor man in sight was Senator Gilbert, who returned last evening. Judge Taylor was expected to return this morning, but will probably be delayed a day or two by the death of R. T. McDonald, of Fort Wayne. Major Steele has been here, and yesterday he was reinforced by J. F. Statesman, of Peru; W. H. Sanders, editor of the Marion Chronicle, and Jasper Gaunt, ex-chairman of the county committee of Grant. Thus far there is no evidence of lieutenants of Frank B. Posey, although Mr. Posey is expected within a day or two.

Senator Goodwine came in to resume work. Representative Faris dropped in the hotel long enough to shake hands and to say a word or two as to his attitude. Said he: "I do not intend to take any part in the senatorial contest. Those gentlemen who have been alarmed lest the congressional delegation intends to take a hand in this race need worry no longer, for the delegation does not intend to. I am sure that whoever may be selected by the legislature will be acceptable to the congressional delegation, and we will work harmoniously. All the candidates are friends of mine, but I will take no part in favor of any one."

Another arrival of the day was George F. McCulloch, of Muncie. Mr. McCulloch has been claimed as supporter of some of the candidates, but last evening he declined to commit himself.

But one lonely little argument was used yesterday, and that was directed at Judge Taylor, and was to the effect that he is too old to be chosen senator. It has been heard before, and Senator Gilbert, as the only Taylor man in the house, stated, when asked about it, that Judge Taylor is sixty years old.

Most of the time was devoted to telling how absolutely certain the election of each candidate is. Not one of them has outwardly lost any hope, and from the claims made Indiana will be the first state in the union to have six members of the United States senate. In the intervals between claims there was some discussion of the proper time for holding the senatorial caucus. These members here yesterday were in favor of an earlier caucus than the date first suggested, January 12. The date now being considered is Tuesday night, January 10. The reason for the change is that the caucus for the organization of the house and senate, already settled for January 4, will take but one evening, and to fix the senatorial caucus for the 10th will give the six full days for work in the senatorial matter. If the balloting for senator continues over two or three evenings, or more, the members argue that so much the more should the caucus be set for earlier in the week, as nothing will be accomplished in the legislature until the senatorial question is settled. As the most it is not believed that over ten days will be lost if the caucus is fixed for the 10th, and if an election is made the first evening the legislature can be so much sooner consider the bills to be presented. It is probable that January 10 will be the date on which the selection of a senator will be made.

FLOWERS AND TEARS

Bear Witness to Sorrow at Bier and Grave.

Remains of R. T. McDonald Laid to the Last Rest.

Vast Assemblage Attends the Funeral Services.

Eulogy Pronounced by Rev. Dr. Moffat and Hymns Sung by the Haydn Quartet—Many Floral Tributes.

This afternoon, in the presence of a vast assemblage of relatives, friends and business associates, the impressive funeral rites of Ronald Trevor McDonald were held at the family residence, 252 West Wayne street. Previous to the services the employes of the Fort Wayne Electric corporation, several hundred in number, passed through the front parlor, where rested the casket, and looked for the last time upon the face of the man who had been a friend and a benefactor. Then came the employes of the Jenney Electric Light and Power company, who were followed by the employes of the Artificial Ice company.

Flowers in all the lavish beauty that nature could bestow were on the casket and around it. So numerous were the tributes that THE SENTINEL will not endeavor to name them singly. The most elaborate offering was made by the employes of the electric light works. It was a spread of 100 roses, which covered three quarters of the top of the casket. Festooned around the upper edge of the casket was a rope of roses, extending all around.

The services began with a passage of scripture read by Rev. Dr. Moffat, which was followed by that inspiring hymn, "Remember Now, Thy Creator," sung by the Haydn quartet. Then Dr. Moffat delivered his eulogy and a prayer, after which the quartet sang the hymn, "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me."

Dr. Moffat's eulogistic remarks were as follows:

By the death of R. T. McDonald a citizen of great business capacity and physical energy has been suddenly called away in the midst of his years from the scenes of his activity. Beginning in early life with an ambition to make his mark in the business and financial world, he concentrated his remarkable abilities upon the object of his ambition. By his quickness and keenness of perception, aggressive energy and indomitable will, his business and financial interests increased, and became constantly more and more widely extended; day by day they became a heavier burden, and he went on resolutely under the weight of the accumulating burden, till death came and released him. And now for him it is all over. The busy brain is still. The restless body is at rest.

More particularly of his character and career it is not necessary that I shall speak. They are widely known all over our country. And to you, his friends and neighbors in this city, which was his home, which owes so much to his interest in its prosperity and where so many have found employment in the great industry built up by his genius, to all who will miss him so much and so long, the story of his life is familiar.

Nothing remains for us to do, or that we can do, but to extend our heartfelt sympathies to his grief-stricken loved ones, who mourn the loss of a beloved husband, father, son and brother, and to commend them to the tender sympathy and care of our heavenly father.

At the conclusion of the services the casket was sealed and borne by the pall bearers to the hearse. The interment being private only members of the family followed the remains to Lindenwood.

MANY FROM ABROAD.

It is doubtful if even a Fort Wayne citizen was laid to his last rest with a greater demonstration of sorrow, nor attended by more people, than was the late Mr. McDonald. Aside from the army of workmen who came to pay their respects there were many from the ranks of the various Masonic lodges, both in this city and Indianapolis, and scores of men identified with Mr. McDonald's numerous business interests abroad.

THE BEST IN HISTORY

Verdict of Merchants on Their Christmas Trade.

Expression is General in All Lines of Business.

Everybody Delighted With This Holiday Season.

Local Railway Managers Report the Biggest Business in the History of Their Lines.

As showing the condition of Christmas trade this year as compared with former years a SENTINEL reporter sought expressions from a number of business men today with the following result:

Foster Furniture Store—We had the biggest Christmas trade in the history of our store.

Rurode Dry Goods and Carpet Co.—We had a magnificent business, especially the last three days of last week. It was ahead of last year and we have reason to feel highly satisfied.

Ben Lehman—Our business was immense.

George Balott—Did more business than in the three previous Christmas seasons combined.

Meyer Bros.' Hat Store—Business was better than a year ago.

M. Frank & Co.'s Bee Hive—Much better than last year.

Reuben Patterson—Not only was our Christmas trade ahead of last year but all of the fall season we felt an increase over the previous year. Business has been very good with us.

John M. Miller Furniture Co.—Decided increase over last year.

W. J. Kettler & Son's furniture store.—Our business showed an increase of 55 per cent. over the holiday season of last year.

Wolf & Dessauer—Biggest business we ever had during a holiday season.

Pixley & Co.—Our Christmas trade was better than last year and probably the best we ever had in that season.

People's Store—Business was remarkably good and we don't believe we ever had better.

Reports from the White Fruit House, the Greatest Grocery, J. M. Kane's the Lehman book store and other places go to show that everybody had a splendid Christmas business this year.

ON THE RAILWAYS.

Another and strong evidence of the improved conditions is the immense holiday traffic of the railways, which is said to be far in excess of any previous year. This increase is not confined to the passenger business, it being just as marked in mail, express and freight traffic.

THIEF CAUGHT.

Councilman Zurbuch's Horse and Buggy Stolen.

Deputy Sheriff Whitney and Mr. Zurbuch Overtook the Horse and Thief West of Churubusco.

Councilman Zurbuch and party of friends went into the country yesterday with two horses and buggies. Returning home the party all rode in one vehicle and led Mr. Zurbuch's horse. While riding along the road towards town they were overtaken by a young fellow who asked for a ride.

He was invited to jump into Mr. Zurbuch's buggy. Arrived at a farm house the pleasure seekers went in to get warm and invited the young stranger to go with them. He preferred to stay outside and watch (?) the horses. When Councilman Zurbuch and his friends came out to finish the trip to town the councilman's horse and buggy was missing and so was the young stranger. The party came on to the city and notified Sheriff Melching and all night the sheriff's deputies were hunting for the horse and buggy. This morning Deputy Sheriff Whitney and Mr. Zurbuch started out again on a hunt.

At noon Mrs. Zurbuch received a telephone message from her husband at Churubusco notifying her that he and Deputy Whitney had found the horse and the thief six miles west of Churubusco and would bring them back to Fort Wayne this evening.

Cupid is usually pictured as a frolicsome, playful little fellow, always speaking of laughing, but with just a trace of malice in his make-up.

This is the artist's idea. In reality, Cupid in these days is a much graver, sober little chap. He is beginning to learn that life is not all a summer holiday. He is just learning that sick men and unhealthy women have no right to tamper with love or matrimony. It is best for themselves and best for the human race that they should not. It is not a hard matter for men and women to preserve their health if they wish. It is far from impossible for them to restore it after it has been lost. That being the case, the modern Cupid is right in looking with disfavor upon matrimonial matches between sick men and unhealthy women. Ill-health in a woman is generally the result of some weakness or disorder of the distinctly feminine organism that is slowly sapping her vitality. At first, a little pain and slight indispositions which seem to her quite unimportant. They grow steadily worse until she suffers all the time from burning and dragging sensations, and occasionally has to take to her bed. Finally they completely unfit her for wifehood and motherhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an unfailing remedy for ailments of this kind. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in maternity and make them well and strong. It transforms weak, sickly, nervous invalids into healthy, happy wives and mothers. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest druggist will recommend a substitute.

"Since I wrote you we have had a babe sent to us," writes W. R. McKnight, of ... Clay Co., Ky. "My wife took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during the expectant period and until confinement, and she had no trouble to mention. A stouter, healthier child was never born. Our child will be one year of age on the 6th inst., and she has not been sick a day. Has not had so much as the colic."

When Paul Newman, ex-attorney general of Hawaii, was the other day admitted to practice before the United States supreme court he registered from "the Territory of Hawaii."

Forain, the French caricaturist, was recently asked whether he found depravity the deeper among the rich or the poor. "There is no such thing as depravity," he replied, with all the disdain he could put into his voice. "At the top it is diseased nerves; at the bottom hunger."

This has been a disastrous year for shipping on the great lakes, and the losses from wrecks foot up a total of more than two and one-half millions. But to offset this the traffic has been unprecedentedly large. For the port of Cleveland alone the tonnage received was 200,000 tons in excess of last year and many other ports can show similar gains. All things considered, the lake shipowners have little cause to complain.

The joint commission to remove causes of irritation between the United States and Canada will not accomplish as much as was hoped, but nevertheless will make considerable progress. The very fact of an amicable consultation will tend to promote concord. As neighbors the United States and Canada may not become so familiar as to lend and borrow household furniture, but will at least be on living terms and willing to lean over the fence long enough to pass the time of day.

One of the articles of the agreement entered into by the American and Spanish evacuation commission in Cuba to govern the Spanish troops who by reason of the lack of transports will be forced to remain in the island after January 1, specifies that "the Spanish troops shall punctually pay for all they buy." This will afford a novel experience to Cuban merchants, who have grown accustomed to the practice of the Spanish soldiers to take what they want without pretense of paying. Until the novelty wears off the merchants will not be anxious to have the evacuation complete.

Of the late R. T. McDonald, the Indianapolis Sentinel has this to say in an editorial: "The death of Mr. R. T. McDonald, of Fort Wayne, which was announced in the Sunday Sentinel, is an irreparable blow to that city and a serious loss to the state. Mr. McDonald was one of the strong men of Indiana and a great leader in the financial and industrial world. He had originated and builded up many great enterprises, and his name was synonymous with pluck, energy, courage and dash. For a number of years he had been recognized as the foremost representative of the business interests of Fort Wayne, and he had done more than any other citizen to promote her growth and prosperity. He was a large, broad-gauged, big-hearted, large-brained man, and his premature death will be sincerely regretted by a host of friends and acquaintances all over the country."

ENDLESS CHAINS.

A Clothiers' Journal Does Not Approve of the System.

The Clothiers' and Haberdashers' Weekly, the official journal of the retail clothiers of America, says: "The progressive nuisance, the endless chain system, after bringing untold misery to the victims of beggars, has been introduced with dire effect as an auxiliary to the sale of clothing as well as of other merchandise. The system, as practiced by a few retail clothiers, is to offer a suit worth $15 to the person who will pay $2.00 and sell ten tickets for 20 cents each to other persons, who in turn become agents for the sale of similar tickets for the purpose of obtaining a like reward. Of course those who first embark in the scheme generally gain a good suit at a small expenditure; but as the chain lengthens the sale of tickets becomes more difficult, and many, after selling a few tickets, the price of which the clothier receives, abandon the scheme in despair. While a merchant who starts such endless chains may realize an immediate profit, he must remember that every man who has forfeited time and money in a futile endeavor to sell sufficient tickets to entitle him to the reward, is lost to him as a customer, if he does not become an enemy. Moreover, such schemes invariably are recognized by swindlers as containing wide possibilities for fraud, and thus gather upon the clothier's head the aggregate odium that attaches to whoever misuses them in his name. No permanent success in business is possible through other than straightforward methods of buying and selling."

WILL NOT TALK.

President Robison Refuses to Affirm or Deny Transfer Deals.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 27.—President Frank De Haas Robison, of the Cleveland base ball club, the most talked-of man in league circles, is home from the league meeting. He absolutely refuses, however, to talk on the baseball situation in this city or the reduction of the league to eight clubs. When seen yesterday he was asked to affirm or deny the story that the Cleveland and St. Louis clubs were to be transferred, but all he would say was: "I won't talk on that nonsensical subject." It is known that he will leave for St. Louis in a few days, and his object there can easily be surmised.

HAS NOT SAILED.

Story That the Crew of the Brinkerhoff Was Mutinous.

New York, Dec. 27.—The ferry boat J. H. Brinkerhoff, "the Cuban navy," did not sail for Cuba on Saturday as was expected, but is still tied up at Stapleton. Considerable difficulty is being experienced in shipping a crew to take the vessel to Cuba, as her ability to withstand rough weather in the open sea is questioned. It is alleged that the Brinkerhoff returned the first time, not on account of the fire which broke out on board, but owing to the fact that the crew became mutinous and refused to continue the voyage.

PEACE OFFERING

By Senator Frye to the Central Maine Hospital at Lewiston.

Lewiston, Me., Dec. 27.—Mrs. W. H. White has received a telegram from her father, Senator Frye, at Washington directing her to present $1,000 to the Central Maine general hospital, Lewiston, as "a peace offering and Christmas gift" in memory of Emma Frye, his daughter.

Proposed Legislation.

The committee at work to recommend a revision of township laws has about decided that a legislative board of five men shall have power to correct and revise the tax levy and various other things now exclusively in the hands of the township trustee. The chairmen of these various township bodies shall comprise a similar body to supervise the tax levy and expenditures of the county officials. It is something like the supervisor system of New York, Michigan and Illinois.

AT THE CAPITAL.

Allen County Trustees Went Down Monday Afternoon.

A Big Meeting of Indiana Trustees Will be Held, Commencing Today—Will Advocate Changes.

The township trustees of Indiana are holding a meeting in Indianapolis this week and Allen county is well represented. Monday afternoon the following trustees left over the Wabash for Indianapolis: Schnuetzer, Wayne township; McQuiston, Washington township; Shookman, Marion township; Bloom, St. Joe township; Schaudrauf, Adams township; Fry, Jefferson township, Webster, Pleasant township, Young, Lafayette township. These gentlemen expected to be joined on the train by Trustee Woebbeking, of Maumee, and Trustee Johnson, of Eel River. Trustee Gerroll had been chosen to present the resolutions of the Allen county officers to the state meeting, but sickness in his family prevented him from making the trip.

There are more than 1,000 trustees in Indiana, and it is anticipated that more than one-half of those trustees will be in attendance at this week's meeting. The Allen county trustees will be home on Thursday.

AID FOR THE WIFE

From the Cattlemen Who Killed Her Husband.

After Trial and Acquittal the Men Rode to Her Home and Gave the Woman a Bag of Gold.

Chadron, Neb., Dec. 27.—As a sequel to the court scene at Hot Springs, S. D., last week, in which thirty-two cattlemen were acquitted of the charge of killing John Ekeman, a sheep herder, in Fall River county, S. D., last August, a chivalric committee composed of the exonerated cattlemen rode up to the little cabin occupied by the destitute family of the dead man. The leader knocked at the door and Mrs. Ekeman responded. Her face grew pale and she trembled.

"Mrs. Ekeman," said the leader, "we have come to make you a little Christmas present. We shot your husband, but it was in self defense. We know you are without funds. We would gladly restore your husband, but that is impossible, so we do the next best thing—give you the means to support yourself and children. If you need more call on us."

And he handed her a bag containing $1,000 in gold. The plainsmen raised their hats, mounted their horses and rode away.

DEWEY WANTS SAILORS.

Seamen Whose Enlistment Has Expired Want to Come Home.

New York, Dec. 27.—A special from Washington says:

Admiral Dewey cabled to the navy department asking when he might expect the Buffalo to arrive at Manila and requesting that she might be hurried as much as possible. The Buffalo is carrying 600 men to the Asiatic squadron to take the places of those whose terms of service have expired and who are now exceedingly anxious to return to the United States.

Many of these men would ordinarily have come home on the flagship Olympia, which was on the point of starting for San Francisco when the Maine was blown up, but was retained by Admiral Dewey on a cable warning from Acting Secretary Roosevelt.

The admiral has now informed the navy department that conditions in the Philippines have so materially improved that he will send a few officers and men to San Francisco on the next army transport which leaves Manila.

He is not yet willing, however, to recommend any reduction of the fleet and notwithstanding the reports to the contrary, he has never intimated any desire to come home himself, but in fact refused to take advantage of the permission extended to him of temporarily leaving the east and visiting Paris when the peace commission was there.

A BIG COPPER DEAL.

Eastern Capital Buys Mines in Arizona—Will Refine in Connecticut.

New York, Dec. 27.—One of the largest deals in copper property ever effected in this city has been completed. Fourteen claims adjoining each other and adjacent to the great copper mine of W. A. Clark, passed into the hands of eastern capitalists.

Franklin Farrell, of Ansonia, Conn., and L. J. Graulich and W. B. Coe, of this city, are the principal members of the syndicate of purchasers. G. W. Hull, of Arizona, was the principal owner of the properties sold. He was represented by James Shirley, a mining engineer, of Prescott, Ariz.

The property is located in the town of Jerome, Yavapai county, Arizona, and is known as the United Verde extension. Mr. Clark's property, the United Verde, is regarded as one of the greatest copper mines in the world as it pays its owners about $300,000 monthly.

The property transferred here is of about the same extent and is said to carry copper ore of equal value.

It is the intention of the purchasers to convert the ore into crude copper at the mine and ship the product to copper refining establishments at Bridgeport and Ansonia, Conn., to be refined.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Family of Christian Scientists Refused Medical Assistance.

Omaha, Neb. 27.—Mrs. J. W. Eller was so badly burned Sunday afternoon by the explosion of boiling turpentine on a stove that she died last night from the effect of her injuries. Her husband and two sons, Wayne and Hartley, were also slightly burned. The family are Christian Scientists, and refused medical assistance. Great reticence has been observed and only members of the Christian Science faith are admitted to the residence.

TWO HAVE LEPROSY.

The Cases Are in Ohio, Near Toledo.

Daughters of a Soldier Have Had the Plague a Dozen Years—Will Now be Isolated.

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 27.—Dr. Charles O. Probst, secretary of the state board of health, has investigated the two reported cases of leprosy at New Lexington, Perry county. He has found the cases to be of genuine, fully developed leprosy. The lepers are Hattie Garry, aged twenty-two, and her little sister, Hannah, twelve years old. For a dozen years Mrs. Garry, a soldier's widow, has managed to conceal from her neighbors her children's affliction. Finally, forced by straitened circumstances she told the story to the county authorities.

Eminent physicians decided that the disease really was leprosy. The two girls will be isolated in a cabin to be built among the hills outside of the town limits. In the cabin, which will be the only one of its kind in Ohio, the faithful mother will care for her daughters, while food and clothing will be furnished by the county.

These cases are hereditary. The father of the girls contracted the disease in the south while a soldier in the civil war. Symptoms of leprosy did not develop until after the father's death. For the last few years the girls have rarely left their mother's cottage, and that usually after dark. In the oldest girl, Hattie, the leprosy is in an advanced stage. In the case of the younger child the disease has not progressed so far.

MILES CALLED DOWN.

Swift Objects to His Statements About Beef.

His Statements Concerning Commissary General Egan Were Also Not Pleasing and Are Subject to Criticism.

Washington, Dec. 27.—There were but three members of the war investigating commission at its offices today, and after a short informal discussion the regular session was deferred until tomorrow. No witnesses have been summoned. The Swift Beef company, of Chicago, has forwarded to the commission a communication taking exceptions to the reflections made by General Miles on the character of the beef furnished the expeditionary forces in the war. The communication is not made public and will not be until it is brought officially before the commission. The exceptions also taken to the feature of General Miles' testimony by Commissary General Egan will be taken up by the commission when it has its next full session, and general Eagan may be recalled to testify. This question of the character of the beef supply may possibly open up a rather prolonged inquiry. Unless something unexpected should develop, however, the commission expects to close its regular sessions before the middle of January and possibly finish up its work entirely by February 1, so as to submit its report to congress about that time. This is barring a possible broad investigation as to the beef issue.

General Humphreys, the depot quartermaster in charge at Tampa during the time covered the complaints against that department there, has been subpoenaed from Havana and was expected here today, but will not reach here now until the first week of January.

M'DONALD'S MONUMENT.

A Suggestion as to How He Would Best Care to be Remembered.

Editor Sentinel: There is lain to rest in Fort Wayne today, one of its most forceful, most useful and most loyal citizens. Single handed he built us from the humblest possible beginnings, one of this city's greatest manufacturing industries, and one that has made the name of Fort Wayne familiar throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Had he but known how suddenly he was to have been taken off, I believe he would have said to his Fort Wayne friends, there is no monument that you can erect to my memory that would be so grateful to me, as to have you take hold of the great enterprise I have established in your midst, and perpetuate and enlarge it, under the care of the trained lieutenants who have been associated with me. Let a marble slab set in the wall of the building say: "Fort Wayne Electric Corporation, Founded by R. T. McDonald."

It is well understood that the works have always been immensely profitable, showing a monthly profit of $20,000 to $25,000. For many years it paid out in dividends $200,000 annually.

If the representatives of Mr. McDonald's interest, including such of the trusted employes of the company, as Charles S. Knight, Henry J. Miller, James J. Wood and Charles A. Munson will take the initiative in this matter, I believe Fort Wayne capital can be found to add to and aid the electric light works in whatever way is deemed most advisable. D. N. Foster.

The Sun's Changing Face.

For many years careful drawings of the shifting spots seen on the face of the sun have been made at the Kew Observatory, near London. This year it has been decided to discontinue these sketches, which were made by hand, on account of the great progress recently accomplished in color photography. Photographs of the sun, which are now taken every fair day at various observatories, present a more complete record of old Sol's changes of countenance than the most careful drawings could do.

THE NEW PUMP.

The committee on contracts and franchises did not hold a meeting last evening to consider the contract of the waterworks trustees with the Holly Manufacturing company. Members of the committee have expressed themselves, however, and it is believed a majority of the councilmen are opposed to the purchase for the reason that the city now has too many pumps with capacity twice as large as the needs of the city. The claim is also made that the majority of the council will vote against approving the contract. The city council will hold a regular meeting tonight and may discuss the matter.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at Dreier & Bros.' drug store.

Where the Bears' Noses Go.

It has long been remarked by furriers that the skins of the polar bears which they receive are invariably minus the bear's nose. This fact is the result of a superstition among the Eskimos that whenever a polar bear has been killed the hunter must cut off its nose and throw it upon the ice; otherwise bad luck will follow him in subsequent expeditions.

BRICE'S CAREER.

Charles Foster Relates the Interesting Story.

Was Associated With the Chief Financier in a Railway Enterprise—News of Rail and Shop.

A most interesting story of a most remarkable career is the one related by Hon. Charles Foster concerning the late Calvin S. Brice.

"I first met Mr. Brice in 1871," said Mr. Foster. "He was then a very young man. He was a Lima lawyer without business. He never was a successful lawyer in matters which came before an average attorney. At that time I had just been elected to my first term in congress. Mr. Brice came down from Lima to see me about the Lake Erie and Western. That road was then built from Fremont to Findlay and was projected to Lima, Celina, through Indiana on to Louisville. The projectors ran out of money and the enterprise was stopped.

"The Boill law had just been passed by the Ohio legislature. This law was modeled after the Cincinnati law, and gave any municipality in the state the right to build a railroad. At this time Mr. Brice had no connection with railway affairs. He came to see me about the propriety of extending the Lake Erie and Western under this law. After his explanation of how this law could be utilized, I felt impressed with his views. He had no money and no property and I had no interest in the road. The directors of the road were called, and Mr. Brice and myself were authorized to make the effort to secure the approval of the people in towns from Findlay to the Indiana line.

"We commenced at Findlay, visited each township, town and city, presenting the matter and securing a favorable vote in every township and municipality. Arrangements were made for continuing the road. Young as he was, Mr. Brice took a prominent part in directing the affairs of the company. The enterprise was pushed, and as fast as we passed a township we secured bonds.

"Just as we reached St. Marys, the supreme court declared the Boill law unconstitutional. Our fond dreams were nipped in the bud. Those of us who had anything were loaded with those bonds. Mr. Brice's intuitions at that time were quite as unerring as he demonstrated them to be later.

"A few days after the decision of the court Mr. Brice came to me and said the road would have to go into the hands of a receiver. He thought the other side would make such application and that we had better take action at once. Mr. Brice went to Fremont and made application for a receiver; it was granted, and I. H. Bargoon appointed.

"It transpired that we were only a day or two in advance of action taken by the other side. They commenced suit against our stockholders for liability on stock. Mainly through Mr. Brice's genius the hearing was continually put off until more than three years had passed, when the bondholders seemed to have become disgusted with their attorneys and dismissed them, and placed their affairs in the hands of Mr. Hodgskin.

"It was then 1876. Mr. Hodgskin had experience in railway matters, and was anxious for a settlement. This was agreed upon, and at last a new company was formed, with a capital of $1,500,000, one-tenth of which went to Mr. Brice and myself, and we were made directors.

"As before stated, we had reached St. Marys. Hodgskin was anxious to extend the road to Minister, Bremen and Celina. We consented to accomplish this that a bond of $300,000 might be placed on the property. Hodgskin had monumental egotism and could talk German fluently, and believed the Germans of that section could be prevailed upon to take the bonds. He visited all the towns in the vicinity of St. Mary's and failed to secure a dollar. Those Germans seemed unable to discriminate between liability on stocks and bonds.

"Mr. Brice and I met him on his return and found him discouraged. We suggested to him that if somebody would go down and get these people to give $100,000 he could afford to give one-half to the parties having it done. Mr. Brice and myself made the visit. I had some reputation as a public man, while Brice was practically unknown. We called the people together and I made the statement that if they would give $100,000 and the right of way we would build the road to their towns. One-half of this amount was to be paid when the road was in operation and the other half in three and six months.

"After making this statement to them I left Brice to work out the problem. In two weeks he had the full amount subscribed. Twenty miles of the road was to be built. Hodgskin seemed unable to build it. I knew General Sam Thomas, of Columbus. I said I would go with Brice to Thomas and thought we could get him to build the twenty miles. We made the visit. It was the first time Brice and Thomas met. I left Brice with Thomas and in a few days Thomas agreed to build the road, although he told me afterwards that he had no intention of taking the contract. The road was built in 1878. All this time Brice had no money and money had to be advanced to him to pay his expenses.

"I went into congress on the 4th of March, 1879. The annual meeting of the directors of the road was called for April 10th. In March Hodgskin died. The owners of the property lived in Europe. Hodgskin was the only man who could vote their stock. Mr. Brice and myself appeared at the annual meeting. We had but one tenth of the stock but we did the voting. I was elected president of the road and Brice vice president.

"Prior to the death of Hodgskin negotiations had been pending with the owners of the road extending from Muncie, Ind., to Bloomington, Ill., to consolidate and build the fifty-four miles between Muncie and Celina. Mr. Brice had been associated with Mr. Hodgskin in these negotiations. After my election to the presidency of the Lake Erie and Western these negotiations were resumed and ended in the consolidation.

"The consolidated road was then purchased by a syndicate which agreed to turn over for certain securities a complete road from Sandusky to Bloomington. This was consummated [illegible] I was first nominated for governor. I went from the convention to New York, and there met Mr. Brice and the officials of the syndicate, and formally agreed on the part of the Lake Erie and Western, to transfer it to the syndicate. Mr. Brice became active in the affairs of the road, and soon became identified with the great interests of what was known as the Seney crowd in New York.

"After my election as governor I went to New York. Seney said to me: 'Who is this man Brice? He is the most remarkable man I ever met. He gives opinions promptly. When I ask my lawyers for certain opinions it takes them months to give them. Brice gives his at once.' In this Lake Erie and Western deal Brice made probably $200,000. He did this by buying stock and selling it. He bought anything and everything and he did it without money. The men of affairs had implicit confidence in him. When he sold it was always at an advanced figure. He was the most successful borrower I ever saw. That first year he was in New York he made $2,000,000. Not only had he made this money, but he achieved a most enviable position among projectors of great enterprises.

"About 1878, the road then known as the Atlantic and Lake Erie, now the Ohio Central, was in a bad way financially. The late General Ewing was president. I was an interested party. My experience with with Mr. Brice turned me to him at once as the lawyer I wanted to put the road into the hands of a receiver, as well as a large coal company. He soon had the road turned over to a receiver.

"There were all sorts of complications. In nine months Mr. Brice had all complications cleared, the road sold and the title in the hands of Twing Brooks, now general counsel for the Pennsylvania, and Brice himself the owner of one-eleventh of the property. Brice charged an enormous fee for his services, and when Brooks demurred, Brice said he did not want the money, but would take the amount in stock.

"Mr. Brice's relations with Seney were such as to induce that gentleman to construct the Ohio Central and organize a large coal company, Brice becoming the active manager of affairs. It was he who discovered and purchased the land known as Ohio Central terminal facilities in Toledo.

"About this time Mr. Brice became the inspiration and manager of the inception and construction of the Nickel Plate, paralleling the Lake Shore from Buffalo to Chicago. He got a subscription of $18,000,000 to its construction, supposed to be ample for its construction and equipment. It turned out to be several millions too small. The road was in a bankrupt condition when Vanderbilt began negotiations for its purchase.

"Mr. Vanderbilt said to Brice, 'Your road is bankrupt!' 'No one knows that better than I do,' said Brice, 'but do you want to compete with a receiver?' He sold the road at a large profit and made a half million dollars out of it for himself."

Settle One Suit to Take up Another.

The Wabash company has been having its share of troubles in the way of damage suits lately. Last Wednesday it paid to Warren Gates and William Gaudrum, of Logansport, $1,000 in settlement of a claim for killing cattle in a freight wreck near Huntington. Now comes news of the filing of a suit in the United States court in Iowa. In this case the plaintiff is Mrs. Truax and she demands $10,000 for the loss of a son, C. H. Truax, who was killed at Churubusco several months ago. The readers of THE SENTINEL will remember that Truax was killed while en route east with a big lot of poultry, the train upon which he was riding being wrecked. The deceased, the plaintiff says, was her support.

Change of Time.

Next Sunday the Wabash will issue a time card, effective on that date, that will change the time of departure from this city of two or three trains. The westbound train that now leaves here at 8:25 in the morning, will under the new time card leave at 8:20. No. 10, due here at 8:25 a. m., and No. 2, due at 6:15 a. m., both eastbound, will also depart five minutes earlier under the new time card.

Will Resume Work Tomorrow.

All office and factory work was suspended at the electric works today, but THE SENTINEL was informed this morning that operations would be resumed tomorrow. There are a number of important contracts on hand and probably it will be necessary to work over time in order that they may be filled within the time limit.

Struck by a Train.

Southbound train No. 2 on the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, struck a buggy at Hodgman Crossing, two miles north of Sturgis, Mich., at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Charles Tasch, the occupant of the vehicle, had a most remarkable escape from serious injury, if not from death. He was tossed aside upon the frozen ground, but received only a flesh wound over the left eye and a bruise upon the left arm. The horse escaped injury, but the buggy was smashed into smithereens. The train was in charge of Conductor Grout and Engineer C. Rohling was at the throttle.

Personal and General.

Lee Wolford, of the Wabash shops, is in Wabash visiting friends.

Master Mechanic H. S. McKee, of the Wabash, will arrive home this evening.

Louis Sellt and George Glasser, machinists, are at Wabash doing some repair work on an engine.

After an illness of ten days, James Fulford reported for work at the Pittsburg tank shop this morning.

Harry Tramus, who had a foot hurt last week, resumed work at the Bass blacksmith shop this morning.

E. A. Colman and George Janty, of the Wabash shops, have returned from Toledo, where they went a few days ago on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. James Griffin received as a Christmas present a fine baby boy. The father is a brakeman on the Grand Rapids road.

Thomas Moore, the Wabash witchman who was injured on November 30, is out and intends to resume work on the first of the new year.

Jacob Haffner, the carpenter, has recovered from his recent illness, and this morning reported for duty at the shops of Rhinesmith & Simonson.

Frank Minnich, boilermaker in the Pittsburg shops, was summoned to Huntington last night by a telegram conveying the sad news of the death of a relative.

George Waldschmidt, the veteran Pittsburg shopman who has been ailing for several days, is improving and will probably be able to resume work in a short time. He has lumbago.

During the past four weeks 1,098 trains ran through Peru, over the Wabash road, beating all previous records. Peru is the junction point of the Toledo and the Detroit branches of the system.

A Hettler and B. Bowers have returned to their duties in the Pittsburg shops, after a week's sport in the vicinity of Lima. The next rabbit census will testify to the terrible slaughter of cotton tails by these Nimrods.

John McDorman and Stephen Griffin, who have been off duty on account of injuries to their feet, resumed their places in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop this morning. McDorman was off two weeks and Griffin one week.

There were three engines, Nos. 172, 214 and 140, turned out of the Pittsburg shops last week and four in for repairs. They were Nos. 247, 98, 118, 657. Engines 122 and 409, of a pattern too light for the service of today, were consigned to the scrap pile.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Frederick, of Dayton, Ohio, are spending a few days in the city, visiting relatives and friends. Mr. Frederick, who is a machinist, is employed in the Smithvale Pump works. He is an old Fort Wayne boy and up to eighteen months ago was employed in the Bass works.

The funeral of the late Robert Ward, the Lake Shore yard conductor, which took place yesterday, was largely attended, particularly by the members of the A. O. U. W., of which he was a member. The railway men were also quite numerous, attesting by their presence the high esteem they entertained for the deceased.

No Pigeon, Poultry and Pet Show for Fort Wayne.

Fort Wayne Homing Club Holds Meeting Last Night and So Decided—Project Abandoned for a Year.

The Fort Wayne Homing club met last night to discuss plans for the proposed pigeon, poultry and pet show, announced to take place in February, and the project met with such opposition that it was finally decided by the club to abandon the show for one year and not attempt to hold an exhibition until either the month of December, 1899, or January, 1900.

The arguments in favor of giving up the show announced for February seem to be well grounded. The time was shown by good exhibitors to be entirely too short to get together the exhibits in large enough number or of best varieties, and the show could not be postponed on account of the near approach of the breeding season of birds. The members of the Fort Wayne Homing club say that next year they will take up the show in earnest and begin early enough to ensure success.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever, that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Dreier & Bros. drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

Fort Wayne Lodge of Perfection will have an election of officers tonight.

Railways Promote Prosperity.

It has been truly said that every prosperous railroad carries its prosperity into every city and hamlet upon its line. Railroads in prosperous conditions spend their money liberally along their lines in the way of improvements. So long as the earnings of a railroad are kept up, their employes are able to earn good salaries and it is to the interest of every business man to have railway employes earning good salaries, because no class of people are larger consumers in proportion to the amount of their income than are the railroad employes.

A compulsory reduction of passenger fares will affect the prosperity of any railroad when the average earnings are barely above two cents per mile for each passenger carried. The average in Indiana for last year was a fraction over two cents per mile. The earnings for the current year have been on the down grade and expenses have been largely increased by the war tax, so that the showing is not favorable. The deduction is clear that a two-cent fare law will not fail to cripple the railways and business in general.

To the Land of Sunshine.

Take the Sunshine route from Chicago to Los Angeles, San Francisco and other points in California, and escape the rigors of winter in the east and north.

Pullman tourist cars for first and second-class passengers leave Chicago every Saturday, at 2 o'clock p. m., via the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway to Kansas City, thence to California via the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway—a real sunshine route.

This is the earliest afternoon train leaving Chicago for the west after arrival of morning trains from the east, thus avoiding tedious delay.

The Sunshine route is essentially the best and most patronized through car line for men, women and children. Every attention paid to the needs of passengers en route.

Send for a Sunshine route time table folder. It costs nothing.

Preserve the Alligator.

Since the authorities began enforcing the game law the game all over the state is becoming more plentiful. A similar law should be passed whereby the Florida alligator should be protected from the guns of the would-be sport, who goes through the country slaying them and leaving their carcasses to rot. An exchange says that a hunting party of Kissimmee killed 700 alligators recently and their remains were left for the buzzards. If such wholesale butchery of the Florida alligator is kept up the state will soon not be able to boast of this attractive saurian, which affords the northern tourist so much interest.—Jacksonville (Fla.) Tri-State Building and Loan Association,

Necessity or Luxury.

People have different opinions in regard to a bath room. Some think it a necessity and others a luxury. Whatever may be your opinion on the subject, you must admit it's a great convenience. The early morning bath strengthens and refreshes you. The nightly plunge will make you sleep and give you rest. You will be pleased with what the bath will do for you.

Let us furnish you estimates on what it will cost to have this necessity in your house.
